

PARIS.—Too much has been made in the dispatches of the alleged "unpopularity" of Americans in Paris, as reflected in the boeing of a few sight-seeing charabancs filled with tourists.

Actually, of course, there is no reason for an American to anticipate even annoyance, in a country where at least his dollars are popular, if he is not these "boings" were the work of a few irresponsible youths, who found it a lark, and would not have attracted a second notice except for the international issue of which they were an insignificant incident. In themselves they were no more troublesome than a crowd of American youngsters yelling "rubberneck" at a sight-seeing car. The only more serious personal encounters yet recorded were caused by a couple of very drunken Americans conducting themselves offensively.

The ordinary American going about his business does not meet with even a scowl, but is treated everywhere with true Parisian courtesy. French may not like the policy of his country, but they realize that he did not make that policy, and appreciate that, by his presence and expenditures here, he is mitigating its effects. Even the arrogant and offensive American of whom there are too many, is treated generally better than he deserves.

IT IS, in fact, more in Britain than on the Continent that the American is reminded that he is a member of an inferior race, tolerable only for his vulgar money. There are reasons for that difference, too. In France, bad French marks you merely as a foreigner, but in England a provincial accent marks you as an inferior. In France, the American learns to drink wine or bottled water, but in Britain he is reputed to have a mania for ice water, which is, somehow, irresistibly ludicrous. Moreover, American money in France helps uphold the franc, but in England it is upsetting the social scheme. Americans are taking over the great houses which their hereditary owners can no longer afford to keep, and are buying old pictures, and even old rooms, to ship to America. That, to be sure, is only what England did to the Continent, after the defeat of the Spanish Armada shifted the balance of wealth and power, and what Northern Europe had previously done to the Mediterranean countries—but these things are different when they are now, and when they happen to you.

WHAT is mislabeled the "typical American" tourist has always been unpopular in Europe, and with nobody more than with his own countrymen, who must suffer under the fiction that he is "typical." Of course he is not. Most of the Americans who come over here are cultivated people, differing only in the minor details of national custom from cultivated Europeans. They pass unnoticed, or are accepted, as a matter of course, as just like anybody else. It is the noisily vulgar and blatantly ignorant ones that attract attention.

Vulgarity and ignorance, to be sure, are no monopoly of America. Other countries have more vulgar and ignorant people than we have. The difference is that in other countries they stay at home, or, if they go abroad they think themselves inferior to their cultivated countrymen. In America, they have the money to travel, they think themselves as good as anybody, and they take pains that everybody, especially "foreigners" (in countries where they are themselves foreigners) shall know it. They think the "typical" Americans, and sometimes get taken at their own valuation. Really, their prosperity and their sense of equality are a credit to American democracy, but they are not graceful in showing it, and in Europe grace counts.

NOBODY knows why Americans drink ice water, but it is possible to conjecture why Frenchmen drink wine. Practically, no doubt, they drink it because they like it, and because, like their ancestors, they suppose it to be stimulating and strengthening. Modern science has demolished that fiction, but at the same time it suggests another and sounder reason. The wine restores the balance of an otherwise unbalanced diet. A really balanced diet, like that of most Americans, with plenty of vegetables and some fruit, does not need it, but the typical French meal is chemically unbalanced. The salad restores only part of the balance, and the wine (barring its alcohol) supplies the rest. The alcohol is a physiological antidote to the strong black coffee they drink. The coffee, to be sure, was doubtless adopted to neutralize the wine, instead of vice versa, but the result is the same. So the moral is that unless a nation eats the right food, it is liable to drink the wrong drinks.

Probe Is Started In Mystery Death

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—An investigation has been launched here into the mysterious death of a sick Greenberg, former San Francisco business man.

Greenberg was carried into General hospital late yesterday by two men. He was suffering from numerous burns and he died this morning without telling how he received them.

Greenberg moved here two weeks ago from San Francisco, after failing in business in the northern city. His widow said he left home yesterday without saying where he was going.

U. S. REFUSES TO ACT IN MEXICO

Restrictions on Border Are Tightened

NEW PLOT IN U. S. AGAINST MEXICO SEEN

Government Orders Garrison in Lower California Increased Immediately

CANCEL TROOP LEAVES

Arraignment of Prisoners in Big Conspiracy Will Start at Fort Rosecrans

(By United Press)

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 17.—Fearing new attempts by Mexicans in Los Angeles to organize a revolution against the present Mexican government, border restrictions at Tia Juana and all points along the Lower California line have been tightened. Lt. A. Gonzalez, Tia Juana garrison commandant, announced today.

Gonzalez's statement and subsequent order followed receipt of instructions from Joaquin Auro, secretary of war at Mexico City, he said. All leaves granted to his troops have been cancelled and all available men called in.

"Increase garrisons to repel invasion," was the terse order from Mexico City, the commandant announced.

Prepare for Revolt

Mexican officials, according to Gonzalez, have been in touch with the alleged revolutionary attempt of Gen. Enrique Estrada for several months and were fully prepared for it.

"Had Estrada's force succeeded in crossing the international boundary line Sunday night, it would have meant much bloodshed," Gonzalez told the United Press through an interpreter.

"It would not surprise officials in California, as Los Angeles malcontents would start another revolutionary attempt at any time," said Gonzalez.

General Estrada's interest in the purported revolt was prompted solely by selfish motives, Gonzalez believes, and was not patriotic.

Is Efficient Soldier

"His reputation as an insurgent in well known," he said. "He was much feared for his activities in the De la Huerta revolt, and he is known to be a capable and efficient soldier."

"In Tia Juana, we believe that he led the present revolutionary attempt purely as an insurgent bent on looting."

Pointing to the precautions taken by the Mexicans, Lieutenant Gonzalez said that every car that crossed the border into Lower California in the last 10 days had been carefully examined for contraband.

Col. Juan Castelo, commandant at Mexicali, he said, has put the same precautions in effect in his district.

With a blanket complaint prepared, charging 150 men arrested here in a purported revolutionary plot against Mexico with violating U. S. neutrality laws, the case today was in the hands of Assistant U. S. District Attorney J. G. Ohannesian and U. S. Commissioner Henry C. Ryan.

Arraignment of the prisoners was to start this afternoon, with Ohannesian and Ryan convening court at Fort Rosecrans, where more than 100 of the prisoners are held in barracks. Hearing for 44 suspects held in the San Diego jail will convene tomorrow morning, it was announced.

Hardware Man Held
Fall for Earl E. Parker, local hardware man, accused of making purchases of ammunition for the alleged revolutionists, was expected to be fixed to $5,000. The amount will be approximately $6,000, his attorney has been notified.

Double charges are to be filed against the prisoners, Ohannesian said. The first count will be conspiracy to violate a law of the United States with the substantiating offense of violation of Section

YACHTING PARTY RESCUED AFTER 40 HOURS ADRIFT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—After drifting 40 hours, helpless in a heavy sea, the yacht Dorsal, with her owner, Harold Barneson, wealthy oil man, and family and crew, was towed into Los Angeles Harbor today by coast guard cutter No. 257.

The vessel and her passengers were rescued by the cutter last night in Santa Barbara channel.

For more than 40 hours, the craft had been drifting 100 miles at sea. Aboard her were

Ants Will Do Battle Unto Death

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—A battle to death between hundreds of red and white ants is scheduled to take place in a four-gallon water jar in the Shrine Civic auditorium tonight, as part of the program of the chamber of commerce industrial exposition. The scheduled battle royal between the reds and the whites is an attempt to find some antidote for the hordes of white ants, which invaded Pasadena, and have been causing a little amount of damage to property.

SANTA ANA MAN HONORED WITH 40 AND 8 JOB

Arrival of Son on Same Day Makes Occasion Doubly Full of Importance

Joseph Plank, chief de gare of the Orange county voiture, Le Societe de 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, is celebrating today, for two reasons. Last night there arrived at his home, 619 Line street, Charles Douglas Plank, weight, seven and three quarters pounds. The boy's mother was the former Miss Frances Pryor, of Nevada, Mo. The mother and the future "box car boy" were reported to be doing very nicely.

Today Plank received a telegram from the box car society's convention at Susanville to the effect that he had been unanimously elected grand chief de train (vice president) for the department of California, which puts him in line for the presidency next year. The glad tidings were contained in a telegram from C. W. Nussbaumer, treasurer of the Santa Ana voiture.

And so today Joseph Plank was passing out elopas, the first box disappearing shortly before breakfast.

AMERICAN LEGION CONVENTION OPENS

SUSANVILLE, Aug. 17.—With approximately 5000 Legionnaires and members of the Women's Auxiliary registered, official sessions opened today in the eighth annual department convention of the American Legion.

Susanville stood up bravely and not a little proudly under the task of housing as many visitors as it has residents. Legionnaires were generous in praising the city's adequate management of housing and other details.

John R. Quinn, former national commander; George J. Hatfield, U. S. district attorney, San Francisco, and Mrs. Eliza Shepard, national president of the Women's auxiliary, were among notable arrivals.

Jack Huston, San Francisco, was unanimously elected chief officer, or grande chef de gare, of the Forty and Eight Legion unit society, which went into convention session ahead of the Legion gathering. Other new officers are: Joseph Plank, Santa Ana, grande chef de train; Arthur F. Guns, Stockton, grande conducteur; I. "Pat" Silverstein, grande commissaire; Rufus M. Whaley, Oakland, grade grande de la porte; executive committee, Emmet Fitzpatrick, San Francisco; Dr. F. L. Hill, Susanville, and Jack Graham, Jr., Merced.

CONDITION OF VALENTINO IS STILL GRAVE

Sheik of Movies Resting Comfortably, But Fails To Gain, Physicians Say

VISITORS KEPT AWAY

Film Actor Closely Guarded in Hospital Room, As Curious Seek Admission

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Rudolph Valentino, the film actor, who won his fame by his ardent love making on the screen, continued his fight for life at the Polyclinic hospital here today.

At 11 a. m., the physicians completed their morning consultation and issued a bulletin reading: "Mr. Valentino passed a fairly comfortable night. There was no change in his condition to cause undue anxiety. His temperature was 101; pulse, 100, and respiration, 22."

Drs. Paul Durham, Harold D. Meeker and C. Rand Manning signed the bulletin.

Unchanged at 2 O'clock

At 2 p. m., the hospital superintendent gave out a statement saying: "Mr. Valentino's condition is unchanged and he is resting comfortably."

During the afternoon, a woman, who gave the name of Marie Marikiewicz, and said she was from Hollywood, Calif., came to the hospital and asked to see Valentino. She was refused and left the place moaning, "Oh, by beloved, my beloved; I hope he doesn't die."

An Italian, whose name was not learned, made his way to the eighth floor, where Valentino's room is located, before he was stopped and ejected. He said he had come to pray for the actor.

Joseph Schenck, Valentino's producer, and Mrs. Schenck, better known as Norma Talmadge, came to the hospital from their summer place at Poland Springs, Me., having left there immediately on hearing of Valentino's illness. Schenck and Miss Talmadge both hoped to be permitted to see Valentino today.

Girls in Hospital Lobby

While the film actor was closely guarded in his room, in the hospital lobby there was another scene. Inquirers, many of them girls, constantly came to ask for the welfare of their idol; the telephone rang constantly; messengers came bringing great baskets and humble bouquets of flowers. Others brought bundles of telegrams.

No flowers were permitted in Valentino's room and all were sent to the wards to brighten the beds of those less fortunate.

Telegrams continued to pile up. There were hundreds. None will be opened until Valentino can give at least some of them personal attention.

Plane Crash Fatal to Two Ensigns

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug. 17.—Ensigns George Hammer and Edward Stone, of the Great Lakes Naval Training school, received fatal injuries today, when the seaplane in which they were riding, crashed into Lake Michigan. Both died within an hour after the accident. Hammer was a flying instructor and Stone was an apprentice flier. They had been flying only a short while.

STRANGLER IS ACTIVE IN BAY REGION

Mrs. Mary Nesbit, 48, Oakland Landlady, Is Fourth Victim of Maniac Slayer

(By United Press)

AKLAND, Aug. 17.—While one suspect was held in Santa Barbara as the possible maniac slayer of landladies along the coast, police today were confronted with another killing by the "dark strangler," who has struck four times in the bay region within recent months.

Mrs. Mary Nesbit, 48, local apartment house manager, was garroted to death last night by an unidentified assailant, who, police believe, may have posed as a prospective tenant.

Towel Around Neck

A towel, tightly knotted around her neck, gave evidence that death had been specifically due to strangulation.

Stephen Nesbit, the woman's husband, reported the murder. He said he returned home about 6 o'clock and became alarmed at his wife's absence. After waiting a short while, he said, he entered a vacant apartment and found Mrs. Nesbit's body in the bathroom.

Nesbit was held in jail while authorities investigated his story. They said there were several discrepancies which must be cleared up before he is released.

No Detailed Story

"Baran shot us down about 6 o'clock this morning," Shastner is reported to have said, just before his death. Efforts to gain a detailed story of the duel from Shastner failed, when he lapsed back into unconsciousness.

A new development today was the discovery that none of the men were armed and that Baran shot them with their own rifle while he stood on a boulder above them, Rowlan said.

The under sheriff said he had been informed by Merced county authorities that Baran confessed shooting his partners and claimed that he shot in self defense.

CLAIMS HE WAS FORCED TO "SHOOT IT OUT"

MERCED, Calif., Aug. 17.—Paul Baran, 51, who is held in the county jail here for the slaying of three of his partners after a quarrel over the mine, which the four owned, claimed today he was forced to "shoot it out" to save his own life.

Baran surrendered himself to Sheriff T. Avm Mack last night and, according to Mack, confessed to the slaying of Victor Shimonoff, T. Shastner and Harry J. Clark.

Dissension Among Men

The victims of the gun duel, which was staged at Lower Shylocks mine, north of Mariposa, yesterday morning, became partners of Baran several months ago and each received a fourth interest in the mine. Dissension arose among the four miners and his life was threatened, Baran claimed.

"They had killed my dog to show me what they would do to me and when I saw them coming up to my cabin with a rifle, I opened fire on them," Baran told Mack. "It was a case of shooting quick and I wounded all three of them with my first shot."

MAN ACCUSED OF MURDER WOULD "SQUEAL" FOR DOPE

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17.—Louis Mazer, Canton underworld habitue, charged with the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News, is ready to "spill everything" to satisfy his appetite for narcotics, according to reports today from the county jail, where he is held.

"Give me one pill and I'll spill everything," Mazer pleaded, following a nig. of confinement, it was learned from one of his jailers, a deputy sheriff.

County jail authorities, under orders from federal officers, who arrested Mazer yesterday on a conspiracy charge to violate the prohibition law before the murder warrant was sworn out, refused the prisoner drugs.

In another cell at the county jail was Mazer's assistant, Carl Studer, charged by federal agents with liquor law violation and held in default of bond. He will remain unless bail is forthcoming. But Mazer will be returned to Canton.

Mazer was identified here today by Steve Kashalk as the man who drove him from Massillon to Canton, when plans were being made to "beat up" the slain editor.

British Mine Delegates In Peace Move

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The delegate conference, representing the miners of Great Britain, today voted to authorize the Miners' federation to open negotiations with the mine owners and the government, in an effort to settle the dispute, which has kept the pits idle since April 30. With each delegate voting for all the men he represented, the peace move was sanctioned by 428,000 votes to 360,000.

EDITOR BOUND OVER TO U. S. GRAND JURORS

San Diego Writer Is Held To Answer for Alleged Obscene Article

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—A federal grand jury will decide whether A. R. Sauer, editor of the San Diego Herald, is to face trial on charges of sending an obscene article on Aimee Semple McPherson through the mails.

The federal body is scheduled to meet on September 8, and the Sauer case will probably be the first order of business.

Commissioner David B. Head, who bound the editor over to the grand jury, did not rule on a motion of defense counsel for reduction of the bail of $5000 on Sauer. This was left to the discretion of the San Diego commissioner, who fixed the original bonds.

Attorneys for Sauer sought to have their client discharged at the preliminary hearing, held here last yesterday. They pleaded that the questioned article, "although it may be vulgar, lewd and lascivious, does not constitute a violation of the postal laws as long as it does not tend to corrupt the morals and purity of those to whom it is sent."

The editorial written by Sauer was an attack on a woman for an alleged immoral act and carried a warning instead of an inducement to loose morals, it was contended.

Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan and Chief of Detectives Herman Cline have been subpoenaed to appear at the trial here Monday of four news vendors, accused of selling copies of Sauer's paper on the streets.

Police Eliminate Brown

San Francisco police, however, have virtually eliminated Brown, who is reported insane, from their investigations of the previous stranglings.

Mrs. Nesbit is the fourth victim of death following criminal attack and strangulation in the San Francisco bay region. The others were Clara Newman, 63, San Francisco; Mrs. Laura J. Beale, 64, San Jose, and Mrs. Lillian St. Mary, San Francisco.

COAT IS CENTER OF INTEREST AT TRIAL

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 17.—A hearing to determine whether William Stevens, eccentric, and Henry De La Bruyere, Carpenter, Wall street broker, should be held for complicity in the famous Hall-Mills murder case, opened today with Mrs. Hall's tan coat the center of interest.

Charles Collins, detective, was the opening witness. He told of having traced to Philadelphia the tan cloak and scarf which Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall had sent to a dyeing establishment there immediately after the murder of the Rev. E. W. Hall, her husband.

He declared his purpose was to learn whether the cloak and scarf were bloodstained and, as far as he could learn, they were not.

The clothing had been a source of much controversy.

SEATTLE, Aug. 17.—Wallace C. Gaines took the stand in his own behalf today in his trial on a charge of murdering his pretty daughter, Sylvia Gaines.

Flames Destroy Many Big Trees

SUGAR PINE, Calif., Aug. 17.—Nearly 500 fire-fighters were successful today in preventing a spread of the fire that has burned over 1500 acres of forest land near here, since last Friday. The fire, which destroyed a large part of the Fresno grove of big trees, is burning itself out and, if the fire lines are effective in holding the flames in the burning area, there will not be any further damage, forest rangers said today.

FUR STORE ROBBED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—Beckman's fur store here was burglarized during the night, according to police reports today, and furs valued at $10,000 are missing. The robbery was discovered early today by the night watchman.

Calles Government Makes Promise to Adjust Matter of Property Seizure

(By United Press)

PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The U. S. government cannot interfere in the church and state controversy in Mexico, President Coolidge ruled today.

His spokesman declared unconditionally that, under no law, did this government have authority to interest itself in such purely domestic problems.

Only one complaint of seizure of American property has been made to the state department, Mr. Coolidge's spokesman said, and the Mexican government has promised to make immediate adjustment of the one case.

The administration will certify, however, the spokesman declared, that this government will do what it can to see our claims respected.

ONE IS KILLED IN NEW YORK STORM

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Tropic storms, which in two districts were described as of cyclonic character, caused heavy damage over the New York metropolitan area last night.

The minor cyclones were reported at Ridgefield, N. J., and Glen Cove, L. I., while severe thunder storms swept other districts. At Glen Cove and Seaside, L. I., witnesses reported the descent of a waterspout and a wall of water comparable to a tidal wave.

One man was killed and another reported missing during the storm. Six persons are known to have been injured. Property damage was estimated at half a million dollars.

The storm lasted for more than three hours and the rainfall in places was nearly an inch and a half. Low lying streets were flooded and many sections were two feet under water.

Abandon Search For Mail Bandits

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Aug. 17.—Search by posses of the mountains of southwestern Wyoming for two bandits, who Saturday robbed the registered mail car of a Union Pacific mail train, was given up today.

Believing that the robbery was an "inside" job and not having a clue to follow, it was considered useless to try to traverse the rugged country where it was thought the bandits might have fled. Postal authorities investigating the robbery have yet made no announcement as to the amount of loss or their deductions in the case.

Carpenter Missing Following Attack

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—Believed possibly suffering from loss of memory, Samuel Maland, a non-union carpenter, was missing today following an attack by a gang of nine thugs, armed with clubs and brass knuckles. Edward Swanson, also a non-union carpenter, was seriously beaten in the same attack, which was the first reported in several days in connection with the carpenters' strike.

Plenty of Money
To Pay This Fine

Mrs. Mary Baxter, arrested in Orange last week on a speeding charge, had plenty of financial assistance when she appeared before Justice of the Peace Ingle this morning in Orange. When Ingle announced that the fine would be $15, four men friends, who had accompanied Mrs. Baxter to the courtroom, dug into their pockets, each insisting on paying the fine. It finally was decided that each of the friends should pay an equal amount.

SPAIN RECALLS AMBASSADOR BECAUSE HE HAS PRACTICALLY BECOME AMERICAN

After 27 years in this country, Don Juan Riano (center), Spanish ambassador, practically has become an American. His wife (left), was Miss Alice Ward, of Washington. Jules Jussierand (right), former French ambassador, was retired by his government under similar circumstances.

DOG ORDINANCE REPEAL URGED BY DR. PRESSON

A recommendation by Dr. V. G.
Presson, county health officer, that inasmuch as the rabies situation in Orange county is under control, the dog vaccination ordinance should be eliminated, was expected to result in repeal of the ordinance this afternoon.

Dr. Presson informed the county board of supervisors, in a written communication, that no cases of rabies have been reported recently in the county and that the situation justifies removal of the official regulations.

His communication was referred to District Attorney A. P. Nelson and it was understood that Nelson would have a repeal ordinance ready to present to the supervisors at this afternoon's session of the board.

Mrs. Barbara Brooks, who has waged a persistent fight for repeal of the ordinance, was before the supervisors again today, urging immediate action on the repeal.

Just venturing, some of the ambassador's diplomatic colleagues think perhaps he had been here so long that his home government had an idea he had lost touch with conditions of today in Spain.

That unquestionably was the view in Paris when the government there retired the French ambassador Jules Jusserand, after 24 years' service in Washington.

Jusserand Americanized
Possibly the Gallic office of foreign affairs was right about it too.
Jusserand had become so far Americanized that while he was an admirable French ambassador for the United States, it may be he wasn't quite so good for France.

It may also be true that Don Juan Riano, much as he's liked there, is no longer as satisfactory as he was to Spain.

There certainly have been changes in his home land since Don Juan came to Washington.

Gen. Primo de Rivera was an obscure young army officer then. Now he's the government. Primo runs things in an entirely different way from King Alfonso's advisors of 13 years ago. It's easy to imagine that the Washington ambassador they picked doesn't suit him at all.

Then, too, Spain is initiating a great drive for the commercial and cultural solidification of the Spanish and Portuguese speaking peoples of the old and new worlds.

It won't be to the advantage of the United States, if it succeeds.

100 Per Cent Spaniard
It's conceivable, with such a situation in the offing, that Alfonso and Rivera want a 100 per cent Spaniard in Washington. It wouldn't be surprising, with his American wife and his more than a quarter of a century's residence here, if they suspected Don Juan of being a little less than that.

One thing is certain. Don Juan didn't want to be recalled or transferred.

It was rumored that he would be,
but he denied it—didn't want to believe it, in all probability. It is rumored that he was offered the Lisbon post but refused and that his government, anxious to let him down as easily as it could, tried next to tempt him with the Paris embassy, which he also refused.

Finally his successor was appointed over his head. He can have a cabinet portfolio at home if he likes, but a good many of his friends think he'll stay here and go into business or write a book.

He's a pretty thoroughly Americanized Don Juan.

Period of 27 Years Held Too Long for Envoy To Stay in U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—When a member of the diplomatic corps in Washington is recalled by his government or transferred to some other post, Washington generally has at least an inkling of the reason why.

The case of Ambassador Don Juan Riano y Gayangos, of Spain, puzzles everybody, including the ambassador himself.

Don Juan not only was dean of the foreign representatives here, but, in official circles he was considered one of the best.

His connection with King Al-fonso's embassy in the United States dates back to the re-establishment of diplomatic relations between Madrid and Washington following the Spanish-American war. He was named ambassador in 1913.

Has American Wife
From his 27 years' residence in it, he knows the country thorowly. He is very popular. He has an American wife, formerly Alice Ward, of the capital.

Madrid's choice of his successor
—Don Alejandro Padilla, present minister to Portugal—suits the state department well enough, but it can't see why it has to lose Don Juan.

Just venturing, some of the
ambassador's diplomatic colleagues

OFFICER CAIN INJURED WHEN WHEEL BREAKS

Jimmy Cain, state traffic officer, was injured at 9 a. m. today,
when he was thrown from his motorcycle on South Main street, near the city limits. He was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where his injuries received medical attention, and later was removed to his home.

Cain, with several other Santa Ana state officers, was testing their speedometers at the time of the accident, according to F. G.
Yoder, officer, who is acting as captain during the absence of Henry C. Meahan, who is on his vacation.

Cain's front wheel suddenly gave away, throwing him to the pavement, it was said. The motorcycle was wrecked. Cain's injuries consisted of several deep cuts about the face and arms and bruises about the body. He will be out of duty for several days.

POOL AND CHARADES ARE DIVERSIONS OF ARTISTS AFTER DAY'S WORK ENDS

Three of the MacDowell colony's picturesque private studios are shown above, with Mrs. Edward MacDowell, famous musician, and Edwin Arlington Robinson, poet.

Many Picturesque Summer Studios Are Found in New Hampshire

PETERBORO, N. H., Aug. 17.—Up here in art's summer colony home—at the far-famed "MacDowell colony"—the discovery is made that Edwin Arlington Robinson not only is one of America's foremost poets, but also is an earnest and accurate pool player.

As for Frances Newman, of Atlanta, short story writing luminary—her favorite diversion is charades.

And Thornton Wilder, author and playwright—he spends much leisure time impersonating an armadillo at his "dillo-ing."

Art's celebrities gather in picturesque assembly at the MacDowell colony each summer. Mrs. Edward MacDowell, noted musician, is the head of it.

Primarily, the colony is a group of workshops. Private studios are hidden away in 600 acres of woods. After breakfast, each artist repairs to his own shelter, safe from interruption for at least eight hours. At noon, a truck drives up to the door and a light lunch is deposited on the step.

Driver's Lips Padlocked
If the driver has any views on the weather or other popular topic, he keeps them strictly to himself. If there are any telephone messages, they are written on a slip of paper and placed in the lunch basket.

The colonists may not even visit each other during working hours, save upon invitation. The dullest, most unimaginative person could not fail to feel the charm of so picturesque a setting, or to sense the spirit of creation which is upon the place.

It was to foster creative talent in all branches of art that the colony was founded. Edward MacDowell conceived it and his widow carried the plan out.

MacDowell's thought was to provide artists with a summer home where they would be free, both from intrusion and from the many details which go to make up the bother of living.

Merit Open Sesame
An endowment helps keep the cost of summering at the colony down to a nominal figure. The MacDowells wanted its advantages to be contingent, not upon financial condition of the artist, but upon the merit of his work.

Mrs. MacDowell, one of the top-most figures in the musical world, gives concerts to increase the available funds.

It's in Colony hall, after working hours, that the fun starts.

Max Oberndorfer, composer, joins Poet Robinson in his pool shooting. He is bringing out a novel this fall titled "The Hard-Boiled Virgin."

Dimitra Kenneth Brown officiates as whist pedagogue.

Marian Bauer, author and composer, is mentor for beginners in the Virginia Reel.

Doctor Morris Cohen, philosopher and truth-teller, relaxes in the role of official court of appeal on all moot points of art, literature, and wisdom generally.

20-DAY SENTENCE GIVEN WILD DRIVER

E. Dyson, 1103 East Twelfth street, Long Beach, must spend the next 20 days in the county jail, because he drove recklessly through heavy traffic on the Irvine boulevard Sunday, Justice Kenneth Morrison ruled when the prisoner was brought into court yesterday afternoon.

Dyson was charged with speeding 40 miles an hour through the heavy Sunday traffic on the San Diego highway, south of Tustin, and driving his machine on the left side of the road.

He finally was arrested after his car had left the highway and stopped in a bean field at the side of the road, officers said. R. Ridley, Los Angeles, in the machine with Dyson at the time he was arrested by Officers Yoder and Greer, and who was charged with being drunk, was fined $25.

Our Neighbors

LONG BEACH—An expansion program now under consideration by the Groveland Products company of this city, will, when carried out, make Long Beach one of leading points of the United States for essential oil from lemons, oranges, limes and other citrus products, it is announced. The company, established in Long Beach more than five years ago, has been devoting much of that time to experimentation and preparation and it is but recently that officials of the company felt justified in making public its program of development.

W. Parks has directed the development and with him have been associated a few Long Beach men. The output of the plant will be based on by-products of the Southern California citrus industry, culls and discarded fruits being used, which proved a market for a large volume of oranges, lemons and limes that otherwise would be a total loss to the citrus industry.

ENCINITAS—Ground was broken on the $30,000 improvements recently granted Encinitas by the county board of supervisors. Work was started definitely with the uprooting of two large trees along the highway. The improvements to be made include the widening of the state highway from curb to curb, the installation of curbs, gutters and concrete sidewalks, and the erection of ornamental electric lights through the business district. Citizens have planned to have a huge celebration when the work is completed and have petitioned the state highway commission for the privilege of roping off a section of the new pavement for dancing and concessions.

BURBANK—Burbank's impetus in building activities shows no indication of slackening. So far this month reports from the building department at the city hall shows a score of permits taken out valued at approximately $150,000 with prospects for $400,000 to $500,000 more before the end of the month. If these prospects materialize, August will be the banner month in the history of the city.

RIVERSIDE—Riverside district's citrus shipments continued to climb toward the 4500 mark last week, when 23 carloads left by train for eastern markets. Not counting truck shipments, the season's total now is 2378 cars, while that to the corresponding date of a year ago was but 2430 cars.

SAN BERNARDINO—Division headquarters of the California highway commission has received an order of possession, giving the state rights-of-way for construction on an 11-mile unit of the Mecca-Blythe road, in Riverside county. Condemned portions of the route now are open to highway purposes. The first 11 miles west of Blythe on the Sunkist trail, affected by the order of possession which was granted by Riverside county will be graded and graded.

The $103,000 contract has been let by the highway commission to S. Y. Faucett of Los Angeles, who has been preparing for a week to start work.

ALEX P. NELSON'S RECORD

During the six years that he has been District Attorney, Nelson has led the entire state every year in percentage of successful prosecutions of criminals.

Has led all prosecutors for 6 years

That denotes several things. It means court-room ability, balanced judgment and a conscientious examination of cases that saves effort, time and expense. It means common sense as well as legal sense. Juries have uniformly upheld Nelson's judgment. It should be made available from the bench.

Nelson's value has not been confined to the criminal court. He has ably and repeatedly protected the county's interests in civil litigation. Victories in the famous oil tax cases saved to the tax payers $130,000 and also upheld the whole structure of the county's method of assessing and taxing oil companies, which was under fire.

Nelson, therefore, has shown the rounded knowledge of both civil and criminal law, the level head and the judicial hard sense that makes up the ideal judge. Vote for him at the primary election, August 31, for—

FORMER SANTA ANA GIRL IS WEDDED AT HOME CEREMONY

DELICATE tints of rose, blue, green and orchid, were in evidence in all details of the charming wedding on Sunday, August 15, of Miss Mary Leila Covington, daughter of Judge and Mrs. E. B. Covington, formerly of this city but now of Glendale, and Louis Edward Head, of Brawley.

The beautiful Covington home at 1445 Virginia avenue, Glendale, was the scene of the event, and was garlanded with asters, larkspur and sweetpeas in pink, blue and orchid tones, combined with quantities of palms and potted plants.

Guests were received by Judge and Mrs. Covington, the latter wearing a handsome costume of black satin and silver lace. With them were all the sons and daughters of the home, aiding in receiving the wedding guests.

Just preceding the nuptial hour of 4 o'clock, two appropriate solos were sung by Richard Bickenback, "My Gift to You" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told." These were followed by the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Woodrow Covington, youngest brother of the bride. To its strains, Miss Covington and her attendants entered the room, the lovely young bride on the arm of her father.

White georgette with exquisite lace, was chosen for the bridal gown, and the long veil swept from a coronet of ace and orange blossoms. Her flowers were bride roses showered with sweet peas.

Miss Sallie Covington served her sister as honor maid and wore a smart frock of pale green tulle. As bridesmaids, Miss Eleanor Bowen of Pomona wore pink tulle and Miss Ella Jo Covington wore pale blue. All three carried formal bouquets of lavender and pink sweet peas.

Assisting Mr. Head as best man was Edward B. Covington, Jr., while S. P. Covington, of Belmont, Iowa, and D. L. Covington of San Francisco, as ushers, completed the group of attendants.

The ceremony was read impressively by the Rev. W. R. Thornton of Glendale, Judge Covington giving his daughter in marriage.

In the reception which followed, refreshments were served, and the guests were given the opportunity to inspect the array of handsome wedding gifts received by the happy young couple. Later in the evening, Mr. Head and his bride took their departure for a honeymoon to be spent in San Francisco and in the Yosemite.

Young Mrs. Head chose a frock of Chanel red satin for her traveling costume, with all dress accessories in complete harmony.

The young people will establish their home in Brawley where Mr. Head is connected with the Pacific Southwest bank. His bride is a popular alumnus of Santa Ana high school, and of Pomona college, following her college course with two years' of teaching in the Brawley schools, where she made hosts of friends to welcome her return to that community.

In addition to guests from Glendale, Brawley and other vicinities, the presence of the brothers and sisters of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Phillips of Kingsville, Texas, were a number of Santa Ana friends, assembled to enjoy the wedding ceremony and reception. This group included Mrs. J. M. Bird, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Elizabeth Shipley, Miss Ora Pringle, J. H. Covington and family, Mrs. A. A. Jones, the Misses Eunice and Vena Jones and Miss Rebecca Oglesby.

Miss Esther Van Hynning of 1043 West Fourth street, is hostess from a pleasant vacation spot at Camp Curry and Glacier Point in the Yosemite, and is again at her desk with the Edison company.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Allender of 1023 North Flower street, have returned from a two weeks' vacation during which they motored to the Big Basin and other northern points. They were accompanied on the trip by Mr. Allender's brother and young sister, J. J. Allender and little Miss Georgia Allender.

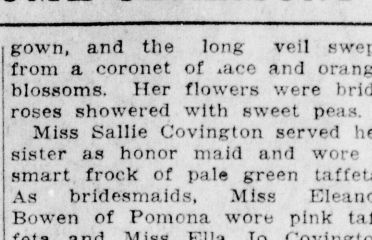

Mrs. E. A. Wood, 209 West Tenth street, returned Sunday from a week's visit with relatives in Los Angeles.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson of South Bend, Ind., and John W. Thompson of Long Beach are visiting at the home of their uncle, John H. Thompson, 917 West Myrtle street. The visit has been an unusually enjoyable one for the brothers as well as their hosts for it has been many years since members of the family have been together. Dr. and Mrs. Thompson are so pleased over California and Santa Ana that they will leave tomorrow for South Bend to make arrangements to move immediately to Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Briney, 626 North Ross street, with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Briney of Torrance and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Briney of Atwood, Kansas, brother of P. L. Briney, left Saturday for a ten-day trip to Yosemite. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Briney have been spending the summer in Long Beach.

Mrs. Ruby Hickox of Laguna Beach is the houseguest of Miss Mary Richardson in San Bernardino.

Ohio Bride and Groom Of Fifty Years Ago Are Complimented

REALIZATION that they had enjoyed fifty wonderful years of married life, was emphasized in the minds of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Carothers of 731 South Main street, Sunday, when they found themselves guests of honor at a surprise anniversary dinner planned by their children, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Allender and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Carothers.

Mrs. Allender had suggested in casual manner, that her parents have dinner at her home, 1023 North Flower street, and hear of the trip to the Big Basin from which she and Mr. Allender just returned. The invitation was accepted and it was not until arrival at their daughter's home, that Mr. and Mrs. Carothers learned that their fiftieth wedding anniversary was being celebrated.

Golden flowers adorned the home and centered the table where a delicious chicken dinner was served by Mrs. Allender and Mrs. O. A. Carothers. Place cards were gold adorned and the small golden nut baskets contained rose bonbons in the same vivid tint. When the final course of the dinner was served, a handsome cake was placed before the bride and groom of fifty years. On its white surface was traced in golden letters, "Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary."

Many gifts were showered on Mr. and Mrs. Carothers, including quantities of flowers and fruit, a dollar goldpiece from the children, and a handsome 24-piece tea service of gold and blue lustre.

In the afternoon, the happy pair told of that wedding on August 15, 1876, in Bowling Green, Ohio, when Miss Laura Gundy became the bride of J. M. Carothers. Ohio remained their home for many years, but they finally decided to come to California and reached Santa Ana sixteen years ago last March, and have made this their home ever since.

Those who enjoyed their golden wedding day with them in the golden state, were their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Allender and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Carothers, the latter's small son, Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Haney and three sons, Claude, Harry Jr. and Roland; W. J. Carothers (brother of the honored guests) and Mrs. Carothers and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baumgartner.

Traveling is not so interesting as the trails in our Sierras, but the natural phenomena of the park amply repaid us for the trip. The geysers, hot spring terraces, and the remarkable "Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone" are unique in their interest and beauty.

Many have asked me—"how do the members of so large a party stick together on the trails?" They don't. They scatter out along the trail for miles. Some are interested in botany and study the plants; others look for the animal and bird life; many of them fish the streams; some climb every other peak they come to. All are provided with lunches of hard-tack, cheese, chocolate and raisins, and we eat when and where we get hungry, building a little fire to brew a cup of tea or a cup of bouillon. Everybody does as he or she pleases, singly, or in groups of two to a dozen, and that is what makes the trip so interesting. All we have to do is to arrive at our destination in time to set up our tents, and live up at 6 p. m. for dinner.

"Grime on my fingers, blisters on my toes"—runs a line of one of the club's songs. That about sums up a hiking trip. Finicky folk who can't stand being dusty, sweaty, wet, cold, hot, sunburnt, mosquito bitten, blistered, sore, scratched, thirsty, tired, sleepy—but cheerful withal—shouldn't ever try it.

Little Birthday Maids Are Complimented at Surprise Party

TWO dainty small cousins, Shirley Ann Hutchins and Betty-Jo Slayton, chance to have the same birthday, August 16, so Shirley Ann's mother, Mrs. L. R. Hutchins of 722 South Park street, planned a children's party of many delightful features, with two-year-old Shirley Ann and three-year-old Betty-Jo as honorees.

Orange and blue, chosen as the decorative colors, were maintained in all details of the afternoon, and were especially attractive as table decorations. For long orange and blue streamers of crepe paper gave a festoon effect, while from each place, ribbons in the same rich hues, led to the center of the table where a pretty Colonial doll, concealed all manner of cunning gifts under her hooped skirts—a favor for each child. Ice cream, cake and cookies were served to the little people while the group of mothers enjoyed ice cream smothered with pineapple and cake.

All the games beloved of childhood, were played, and to add color

Enjoying the luncheon and the friendly afternoon were Mesdames A. E. Bell, Mae Thomas, Emma Chapman, Nellie Parker, Flora Phillips, Leonore Ward, Elizabeth Adams, Floss La Bounty and two guests, Mrs. Frank Weber of St. Paul, Minn., and her young daughter Geraldine.

POE'S STORIES: The Masque of The Red Death

Sketches by Redner
Synopsis by Braucher

Six of the apartments of the Prince were crowded and in them beat feverishly the heart of life. But to that seventh chamber, into which filtered the blood-red light, none of the maskers ventured. Knights and ladies, dressed as phantasms, as Beauty, as Life, floated through the chambers in their mad revel.

As the hour of twelve drew near, a feeling of tension, as if some dread occurrence were impending, held the dancers.

As the clock in that seventh chamber struck each hour an awed hush fell over the throng.

As though carried on the wings of thought there crept through the crowd of maskers the realization that in their midst there was some unwanted presence that boded evil. The assemblage became aware of a tall gaunt figure, shrouded in the habiliments of the grave, a masker that none in the crowd had seen before.

THE CHILD WORLD

Little Janet wears a pout,
Wonder what it's all about?
Little David's chubby hand
In her face was throwing sand.
This beyond the slightest doubt
Is good reason for a pout.

Something's wrong when boys will
Hurl sand at such a little girl.
David's mother says that he Promptly sent to bed shall be.
Janet quite agrees he should,
Maybe next time he'll be good.

"Wait," say I with sombre face,
"Let's investigate the case.
I don't clearly understand
What made David throw the sand."
David answers, "Well, you see Janet threw some sand at me."

Thus the world of childhood runs,
Daughters throw at neighbors' sons
Neighbors' sons return the sand,
Then is warfare in the land,
And when come the cry and tear
Foolish parents interfere.

IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Summer is, perhaps, no time to hunt kypses. For the kyspe trail leads wherever roads wind.

And to locate these nomadic people in any particular part of Manhattan is not easy, for even as these words are written they may be up and away to some new section or out upon the road.

The first blast of chill wind is almost certain to blow them back again, however. For, by some paradox of nature, these folks who pursue the air and sky so zealously in pleasant weather, invariably drift back to the congestion of squalid river front neighborhoods in winter time.

The signal of their return is the appearance of colorful palmistry signs in windows about town, and, particularly the flashing colors of rugs and shawls hung as curtains on old empty store windows of lower Fourth street, just off the river.

Whatever the origin of the kyspe—a mystery argued by many from George Barrow to Konrad Bercowicz—the New York brand hails from the Balkan countries and settles alongside of the peoples of the Balkan lands. And this, generally speaking, is a territory rambling about the East Side from Eighth to Fourth streets and from Avenue A to the East River.

No peoples who come to America shores retain more of the ineradicable customs of the homeland. Their kinsmen settle down. The kyspe never.

What is more—they deal in incantations, love pot, herbs and strange cures. They "cast spells," incant curses, treat old women for rheumatism. They read fortunes with cards, chart the head and study palms; they reveal secrets for defeating enemies and winning loves. They have the "evil eye."

These, of course, are obvious transmutations from homeland. For the superstitious in their alkan lands believe "the evil eye" spells are being cast and the evil spirits are hounding them. They call in the gypsies and—whiff!—away they go.

America means prosperity for the women, and they insist upon staying. Nowhere can such prices be received for the mere casting of a fortune. Society women drive down to the docks in limousines and pay two, five or ten dollars for the reading of a palm. Hundreds are made within a week. The sums seem fabulous to the Romany maids. And so they choose to stay.

To the musicians, America is a crock of gold. Cabarets, cafes, hotels and concert halls have greeted the kyspe players with crowds and showers of money.

And the harter of brides is always a merry sport; the groom's mother and the bride's father wrangle over the price for the girl for weeks or for months.

Also they eat native food, from native dishes, with native table manners. They are the most "unspoiled" of any of the foreigners.

A Young Mother.—As the baby matures the cartilages of her ears will become firm, so all you can do meantime is to keep her ears placed against her head when she is asleep or when wearing a cap over them. Most babies at nine months have very little hair just as your baby has, so there is nothing to do about it but wait for a later growth.

W. P.—To a pint of oatmeal, add a half teaspoonful of sulphur, several pinches of powdered benzoin, and four teaspoonfuls of powdered soap of any fine variety. Make a number of small cheesecloth bags, and put a teaspoonful of the mixture in each bag, to be used instead of soap when bathing the face. This is particularly good for an oily skin where there is a tendency to blackheads.

Miss M. H.—The white wax called for in the cream formula is beeswax, but there is also a brown beeswax which could be substituted if necessary; the latter will make the cream just as nourishing although not so attractive in appearance.

J. B.—When using alcohol to cleanse the hair, use absorbent cotton dipped in the alcohol and wipe the soil from the scalp, and then down the length of the hair separated into as many strands as are needed.

E. R. B.—The acid in the vinegar neutralized the oil in your hair, which will probably recover its gloss again after a time if its life has not been choked out by the severe treatment. Even so, new hair is always forming and nature recovers, too, so you will find all of it improving with each day. Massage daily to loosen the scalp, and get a tonic in which there is some sulphur to help rid you of the dandruff.

The henna shampoo is for tinting the stray grey hairs so they brush into the rest of the hair and are not noticed. Such a shampoo does not change the natural color of the hair beyond adding the least bit of brightness, which is not a change at all when the hair is black as yours is. To do this mix the contents of one of the small packages of henna that come for one shampoo with enough soap lather to cover your entire head. Let this stay on the hair for 20 minutes and then proceed as with any other method.

John M.—Your hair will change to a much darker shade after a few more years, it is always so with that flaxen blonde shade after adult age. If you dye it you will ruin your hair and it might even affect your health.

Nation at Play Is
Nation at Peace

By Olive Roberts Barton

Behold the 15-page sports supplement! Is all America playing? It is! Playing hard because it is working hard. The harder it plays the harder it works, and vice versa. There is no better barometer for gauging a country's moral status than the manner and magnitude of its sports. Also there is no surer indicator of the health of its industries.

Sport knows no class—the grandstand of a baseball field is the greatest fraternity house in the world. The chief economic value of any sport is the leveling of class barriers; it is the common ground, the camp-meeting of good fellowship.

The ancient Greeks believed that physical development was essential to mental perfection. The fact is obvious. As for the influence of out-door sports on the moral stamina of a people there can be no dispute. The poisons of passion disappear under the sky. Who can hate for long in the open? Jealousy loses its edge, disappointment turns to hope, we learn to endure our troubles.

Besides, there is the wholesome-ness of fair competition. Sport develops our sense of fair play—justice reigns supreme on a ball field, at a tournament, in a game of no politics. Brawn against brawn, brain against brain, skill against skill—the best man to win!

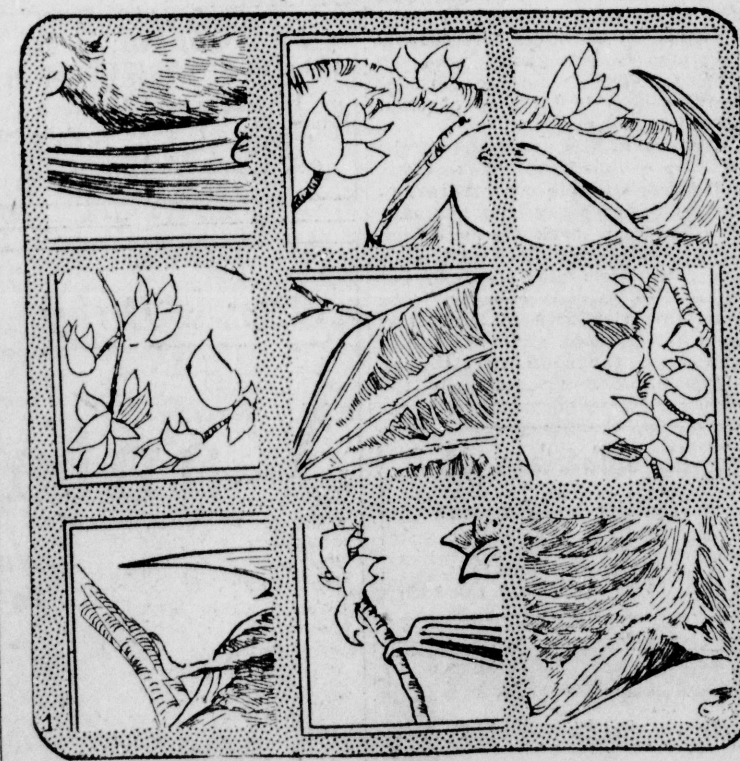

Olympic games, open golf tournaments, international tennis matches, boat races, swimming contests, are bridges that span the ocean and tie us to the rest of the world. They are the League of Nations of play. Who can measure the value of a common taste in sports among the nations of the earth?

Summer sun, fresh air, crowds of happy people matching or taking part in a fair fight! The four horsemen of the apocalypse may tie up their steeds.

Queer Quirks of
-NATURE-

GOVERNMENT IS CONSERVING ELK

The largest old bull of the Yellowstone herd

By ARTHUR N. PACK

President American Nature Association

In the early days of settlement, the elk was a common animal over most of the woodland and prairie regions of the United States. Never as wary as the deer or moose, it fell an easy victim to the rifle of the frontiersman, and was soon exterminated from all but the wilder parts of our country.

It seems to have been particularly numerous in the Middle Rocky Mountain states. There ideal conditions existed in the combination of parks and glades affording rich summer pasturage, and the low and comparatively warm plains and valleys, where a light snowfall permitted winter grazing.

Prospered There

So it came about that in these states, elk persisted in numbers after most parts of the country knew them no more, and of all sections the region south of Yellowstone park seems to have been most favored. Here they became accustomed to winter in the valley just east of the mighty Tetons called Jackson Hole.

But with the growing of the west, the valley of the elk became settled by stockmen who found there ideal conditions for raising hay and alfalfa for the winter feeding of their cattle, which grazed in summer in the mountain parks.

Thus when the elk came down each autumn they found ranches and fenced haystacks, and in winters of stress many were starved, or died from eating the stubby willows to which they were reduced. Though many of the kind-hearted settlers robbed themselves to feed the suffering animals, there was not enough for all.

Easily Tamed

So Uncle Sam made a survey of the situation, and decided to set aside land for these fine animals the first possessors of the valley. A ranch was purchased and now every year great stacks of hay and alfalfa await the herds as they come thronging down the mountains as soon as the snow becomes deep.

And by this wise provision, visitors may see there the unique spectacle of thousands of animals, which a few weeks before were as wild as ever, contentedly munching hay beside the sleds or taking it from the hands of the kindly ranchmen.

TAILORED FURS

The advance fur coats show many tailored models with lapels and leather belts.

NEW SLEEVES

Some of the new Paris coats for winter have very deep armholes, cut almost to the waistline, and wide, embroidered or trimmed sleeves.

Kaffir natives in Portuguese East Africa have orchestras composed solely of drums and xylophones.

Jim Sleeper

To the Voters of Orange County

I have been your county assessor long enough for you to know my official policies. You have had opportunity to judge me and my work.

During the time I have served in this office I have done my best to do my full duty by the people of this county.

When I became assessor I found many heavy property owners, including all the oil companies, decidedly under-assessed. I have conscientiously, and, I believe, successfully, tried to see that the big fellows pay their share of taxes.

I give my word to you that the same policies of fairness and courtesy that I have established in my office will be continued if I am re-elected.

MAN HURT WHEN AUTO COLLIDES WITH S. F. TRAIN

Bernard Martinez, 50, of 2838 East First street, Los Angeles, received serious injuries when the small touring car he was driving was struck by an east bound Santa Fe train east of Atwood, at 5 o'clock, yesterday afternoon.

The injured man was rushed to the county hospital. Examination disclosed that his chest was caved in and that he was suffering from numerous other injuries.

Martinez apparently did not see the fast approaching train or else thought that he could beat it across. He was thrown clear of his automobile as the engine struck the machine. Martinez has a brother in Atwood.

HUGE FUEL SUPPLY LIES UNDER BERLIN

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—Recent test borings have disclosed not merely the presence of new beds of lignite, the so-called "brown coal," in the southeastern and eastern part of the province of Brandenburg, but also of deposits under Berlin, itself.

All indications are also that the deposits near the German capital are sufficient to supply the city with fuel for 100 years at least. These deposits are estimated at no less than 1,200,000,000 tons.

Veins more than 13 feet thick have been found by borings within the city limits, and at Grossbeeren, south of Berlin, a vein more than 28 feet thick was found at a depth of 220 feet.

Six hundred new concessions for mining lignite have been granted for the province of Brandenburg alone in the last few years.

Husbands Attend Babies as Wives Attend Meetings

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Wives of trade unionists should be invited to attend meetings of their husbands' unions whenever questions of policy are to be discussed, in the opinion of the Liverpool Amalgamated Building Trades union, which has adopted a recommendation to this effect.

Miss Florence Underwood, secretary of the Women's Freedom league, probably wasn't entirely serious, however, when she definitely advanced the idea of going a step further, suggesting that the wives attend as proxies for their husbands, for she added:

"Husbands then could stop at home and mind the children while wives attended the meetings."

The Liverpool union's idea struck Miss Ellen Wilkinson, labor member of the house of commons, as a good one. "If the wives heard questions of policies being discussed," she remarked, "a strike would not come to them as a bolt from the blue."

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Ballard, 1302 South Flower street, left yesterday by automobile for a week's vacation at Camp Angier.

Mrs. W. C. May and her sister, Mrs. Mattie Arnold of 315 South Main street are leaving tomorrow for Catalina island to enjoy that popular resort for a few days. They are looked by the Westgate Steamship company.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Thurston and their daughters, the Misses Dorothy and Margaret Thurston, have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adams of 805 East Fifth street and are now located in their new residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Mason and their son, Raymond, of Modesto, arrived here last Saturday and are guests at the home of Mrs. Mason's sister, Miss Rose Young, of 1412 North Broadway, where they are being welcomed by their relatives and old friends. Today the family is enjoying a reunion at Balboa. Mr. and Mrs. Mason will be here all of this week.

Miss Isabel Lopez returned to Hollywood today after a sojourn at Cedar Pines park in company with her mother, Mrs. Olive Lopez and cousin, Miss Charlotte Pine, the trio being guests of Mrs. Charles E. Dixon.

Mrs. A. L. Cotant of Tustin returned yesterday from Berkeley, where she went with her daughter, Miss Margaret Cotant, whom she established at the university. Mrs. Cotant was away a week.

Mr. Sherrill will meet his wife at Ellsworth, she having preceded him to that place and together they will make the remainder of the trip.

Mrs. W. F. Kistinger and son Thomas, 825 South Main street, and Miss Wilma Jameson, Dr. Kistinger's office attendant, were outgoing passengers on Saturday via the Santa Fe route for Street, Ill., their old home.

J. W. Watts, formerly of the West Seventeenth market, left yesterday for a trip to Amarillo, Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex., where he has property interests, making the journey over the Santa Fe lines. Mr. Watts sold his business to E. H. Spicer.

Mary P. Matthews, 1605 East Fourth street, has returned to Santa Ana from a three months' vacation in the middle west.

SENATOR JOHNSON TO SPEAK FRIDAY IN H. S. AUDITORIUM

UNITED STATES SENATOR HIRAM JOHNSON

CHANGE MADE IN MEETING PLACE IN ORDER TO SEAT CAPACITY CROWD EXPECTED

Arrangements were completed today for the mass meeting on Friday evening of this week when Hiram W. Johnson, senior United States senator from California, will make one of his three speeches scheduled for Southern California. The meeting was arranged and sponsored by the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and will be held in the Santa Ana Poly High school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Col. M. B. Wellington, prominent member of the American Legion, will introduce Senator Johnson. Mason Yould, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, of Santa Ana, will preside.

Prior to the mass meeting, a complimentary dinner will be given for Senator Johnson at St. Ann's Inn at 6 o'clock. Any person desiring to attend this dinner may do so by sending in his reservations, with check attached, to St. Ann's Inn before 6 o'clock Thursday evening. There will be no speaking at this dinner and Senator Johnson will be the guest of honor.

Senator Johnson's acceptance of his speaking engagement in Santa Ana carried the intimation that he is full of fight in his personal entry into the present state primary campaign, and that he speaks as an individual Californian, and not under instructions or the direction of any active group in the present campaign.

It was intimated when Senator Johnson reached California, that efforts were made in various communities to secure his acceptance for speaking engagements to discuss only national and international political problems, with the elimination of issues involved in the present state campaign, but no acceptance could be secured from him on such an understanding.

"If I speak before any California audience it will be in the exercising of my rights as a Californian under the direct primary system, to express to my fellow citizens my views upon the issues of the gubernatorial and senatorial campaign," Senator Johnson said.

Speaks for Himself Only
"It is peculiarly my right in the present struggle to speak my own independent voice in this campaign because much of what was accomplished in California after the political revolution of 1910 is now at stake. And as emphatically as I can state it to you, I will speak for myself alone. I choose to support and to speak for those in whom I believe and those who, in my opinion, will faithfully execute the sacred trust of Californians, as is my right and as is any Californian's right, under the direct primary law.

"Some of us believe, when cherished policies are imperiled in state or nation, that no political consequence, no possibility of political extinction, should frighten or deter us. So, if I speak anywhere in my own state, I will speak as an individual Californian and for myself alone, and I will voice the thoughts I feel are so vitally important to California at this time."

Meeting Place Changed
The meeting in Santa Ana, the center of Orange county, long the battleground of California reactionary and progressive forces, is expected to attract many who have never been Johnson supporters.

In fact such a large crowd is expected that it was necessary to change the meeting place from the West End theater to the high school auditorium, where accommodations may be had for from 1500 to 1700 persons.

'Other' Side of Rooster Crowing Case Presented

Not deemed of sufficient importance to receive the official attention of the city fathers at last night's council meeting was an important looking document, filed yesterday with the city clerk, presenting the "other" side of the much discussed rooster-crowing controversy on West Fifth street.

The communication, addressed to the Honorable City Council and signed by a number of "resident owners, goes on to say that the signers are neighbors of W. H. Paul, of 1108 West Fifth street. They further contend that they do not object to his keeping a rooster, as the rooster does not annoy them.

Some time ago, a neighbor of Paul appeared before the city council, protesting against the maternal performances of the Gallic bird, which, it was alleged, kept the whole neighborhood awake with his spirited outpourings. The communication failed to state whether or not the rooster had been vaccinated against disorderly conduct, or in some other manner made to behave during the still hours of the night.

The communication was signed by A. W. Scheets, G. H. Dobson, F. A. Hallock, Fred A. Bronson, Charles H. Dean, Elizabeth Dean, C. J. Schorle and Florence Schorle.

INJURED WOMAN'S CONDITION BETTER

The condition of Mrs. Sarah J. Murray, El Monte woman, who was seriously hurt Sunday, when the automobile in which she was riding, ran off the road and struck a telephone pole, on the San Diego highway, near Irvine, was improved today, according to hospital attendants in the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Mrs. Murray, who is 70 years of age, suffered a crushed chest and her condition was reported as critical soon after the accident.

It was said today that she would recover.

Speeder Enters County Bastile

On a charge of speeding 58 miles an hour on West Chapman street, Orange, Ernest Didier, 22, a resident of the Karo hotel, Santa Ana, entered the Orange county jail last night to serve a five-day jail sentence. Didier was arrested by state officers and was sentenced yesterday in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Political Announcement

The Metzgar for Justice Volunteer Campaign Committee has issued the following: "We claim for J. C. Metzgar an enviable record of community service that peculiarly fits him for that most important office of Justice of the Peace of Santa Ana Judicial Township. His long, successful record as executive secretary of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's Association and many other activities has brought him knowledge of the vital needs of this community.

"J. C. Metzgar is in the prime of life, he has had a long and varied business experience, more successful in service for his home community than for himself financially. He has demonstrated that he is one man, at least, who is in politics for what he can get. At this time, it is conceded that men like J. C. Metzgar are needed in local official positions to solve the problems of the next few years. His announced policy of 'absolute law enforcement in all its phases, no hard and fast prejudged schedules, and every case tried on its merits and the evidence' is meeting with the popular favor it deserves."

Catalina Week-end Is Birthday Present

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Diers have returned to their home at 1109 North Main street, after a pleasant week-end at Catalina accompanied by their two granddaughters, the Misses Dorothy and Barbara Pease of Orange. The trip was in celebration of the birthday of Miss Dorothy Pease, and was her grandparents' birthday gift.

Needless to say, Mr. and Mrs. Diers enjoyed the outing quite as fully as did their two young guests. They found the beautiful island alive with visitors, 2500 being on the boat on which they crossed the channel.

SOLICITING TO JOIN
SOCIETY BARRED

Some Desert Headquarters
On Walnut Street to Match Wits at Birch Park

Santa Ana has a very unique club. Composed of 50 members, there are no luncheon meetings, no dances, there is no canvassing for new members, no gaudy literature printed, no business meeting, and dues are only $1 a year!

The Dominoes, Checkers and Horseshoe club, of Santa Ana, was organized more than 20 years ago by 12 men who were checker enthusiasts, and today there are about 500 members of the club.

At one time the number totaled around 100, but due to the fact that many moved away, some died, and no new ones, were asked to join, there are only about 50 now.

Building Much Moved

The club building is a large, one-room structure of frame and canvas, located on West Walnut street. In the room are tables and chairs for the dominoes and checkers players, and in the back yard, under a big pepper tree, is the horseshoe ground. Benches are near for the comfort of the men who would rather watch the games than toss the emblems of good luck.

Any man interested in playing any or all of the three games is eligible for membership, and new talent is desired, but players are not asked to join—they must express their desire to enter.

Occasional Levies

The fee of $1 a year for dues buys most of the necessities of the club, a new set of dominoes or checkers. Occasionally, a chair is broken when someone is so interested in his play, or story telling, that he fails to notice how far back he is tipping, and the crash proves disastrous. Then the treasury is forced to give up a little of its contents.

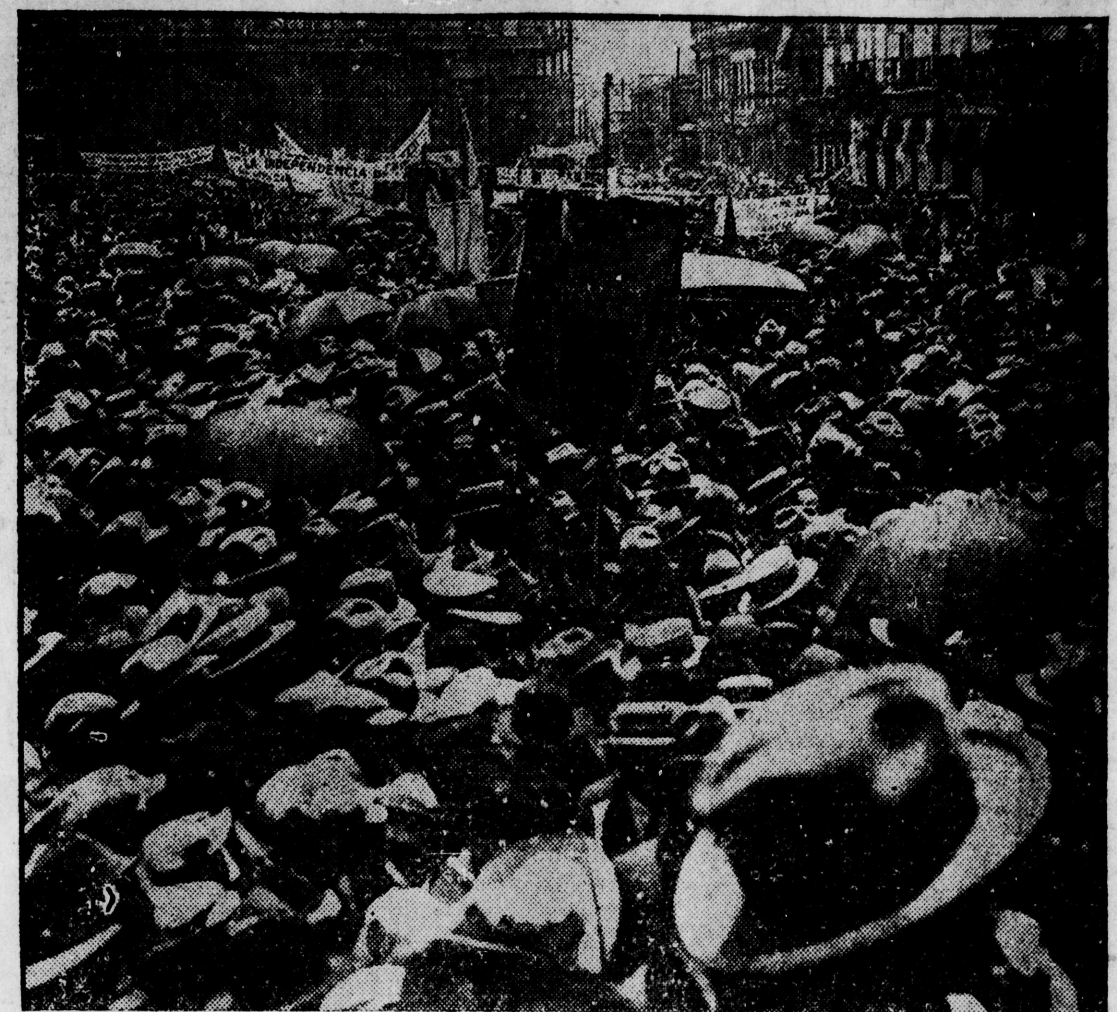

In the summer, the canvas sides of the building are rolled up, and the room is as cool and comfortable as any could desire. In the winter, it is heated by a stove in the middle of the room. If the supply of wood gives out during the cold months, a small assessment is levied, more wood is bought and the games go on, the whole proceeding not causing the loss of more than one king.

George Nay, 819 West Third street, is the patriarch, in length of membership in the club and is the only living one of the 12 founders. All questions pertaining to its early history are referred to him, and his answers are not disputed, though there are many men who have been members for 10 years, and some for 15 years.

Park Lures Some Away

The southeast corner of Birch park has drawn many of the checkers players this summer, because it is more central than the clubhouse, and during the hot days, the members do not care to go so far. If luncheon were furnished at the clubhouse, perhaps everyone would go there, but as yet the man who will forego luncheon, even for checkers, has not been found—so the members who live close at hand must be content with fewer numbers until cooler weather.

CHINA TOLD BY CLUB SPEAKER

While summer vacations have made noticeable inroads upon the membership of the Business and Professional Women's club, the condition is only temporary and the coming September is expected to see the full membership again attending the Monday luncheons at St. Ann's Inn. Less than half a hundred were present yesterday and all felt keen regret that others were not there to hear one of the most interesting programs of the summer.

In the absence of the president, Miss Louise Kaiser, the first vice president, Mrs. Helen Jeffery, conducted the meeting and called for introduction of guests, of whom there were half a dozen present, including Mrs. J. R. Medlock, Mrs. Loren Mead, of China; Mrs. Theo. Lacy, Madame Manilla Budrow, Mrs. Ruth Madlener and Miss May Gur, now of this city, but formerly of Idaho Falls, Ida, where she was a member of the club of that city.

Learn New Song
Part of the noon hour was devoted to learning a new song, written by Miss Kathleen Owens to be sung at the approaching state convention, in Hollywood. Miss Owens directed the singing.

Mrs. Ruth Madlener opened the entertainment program with a solo song. She is a vocal pupil of Madame Budrow and the latter played her accompaniments. She sang the Italian Serenade by Tosti.

park materializes, the club will move its headquarters there, but as that is indefinite the Dominoes, Checkers and Horseshoe club is preparing for a long hard winter—of contests at the present location.

Coast Boosters
To Meet Aug. 27
At Seal Beach

W. D. Miller, H. H. Newton and A. W. Armstrong have been officially appointed to represent the Seal Beach Chamber of Commerce at the next meeting of the South Coast association, according to word just received by Harry Welch, secretary of the association.

Laguna Beach will have its representatives, H. H. Henshaw, Norman Robotham and Hal Forest, present at the meeting, which is called for Friday, August 27, at the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

Plans for more activities on the part of the South Coast association are being made by J. A. Armitage, president. All coast cities are represented in this organization and early appointment of delegations from Huntington Beach, Newport Beach, Balboa, Costa Mesa and San Juan Capistrano is expected.

The South Coast association was the sponsor for the Coast highway, extending from Long Beach to Serra, by way of the Orange county beach cities. With the early completion of this highway, other improvements are to be planned, according to Armitage.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 17.—California taxpayers will not be subject to an ad valorem tax this year, it was announced by the state board of equalization. That there is sufficient revenue in the state treasury to pay the cost of government, is indicated by the announcement. The ad valorem is invoked only in instances of a shortage in funds from regular taxation sources.

A number of the best known show horses in the United States will be put through their paces by their owners and masters, including several famous horsemen from Los Angeles and other Pacific coast cities.

A. C. Ruby of Portland, Ore., will bring his stable of some 35 horses to the fair.

Among the famous steeds to be shown is Easter Star, owned by Marco Hellman, Los Angeles banker. Easter Star twice was grand champion of the Madison Square Garden horse show and also won the $10,000 championship in Louisville, Ky., in 1922. He is the highest priced gelding ever sold in America, bringing $12,500.

Equally as famous is Hottentot, owned by John Vaughn of Beverly Hills. He has proved himself one of the most consistent winners that ever has shown in all five gaited combination classes and has proved especially adept in winning ribbons in the women's riding classes.

A prominent motion picture actress of Los Angeles has been asked to ride several of the horses in an exhibition event Ragan said, and further announcement concerning that special feature will be made within a few days.

The horse show is a new feature of the fair, which is to be held on the state highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim, near the county hospital.

EDITOR WRITES
ABOUT JOURNEY TO SOUTHLAND

California Is Described As
'Heaven on Earth' by Owner of Illinois Papers

Declaring that the tour of the National Editorial association, which visited Santa Ana in June, educated and "sold" him on California, Paul R. Goddard, president of a chain of Illinois newspapers, has written to officials of the chamber of commerce, an expression of appreciation for the reception accorded his party by the local chamber.

The trip, he said, proved a revelation to him. He now is publishing a series of articles in his chain of newspapers on California, which later he will combine in pamphlet form for eastern distribution. The letter follows:

"To the many organizations and individuals who helped make the meeting of the National Editorial Association in California in 1925 such a remarkable, educational and pleasurable event, and for the many, many courtesies extended, I desire personally to extend my sincerest thanks.

"I never had such an enjoyable sight seeing trip and was never so royally entertained. I am sure I voice the sentiments of the some 500 members of the editorial party who were on the trip this year.

"I had known that California was a wonderful state. Many of my friends in the past years have visited or moved to the state, and they have told me of its beauties, but the half had not been told. One cannot adequately describe the mountain scenic wonder, the beautiful landscapes, the remarkable improvements, both public and private.

"Not only are the buildings and houses on a wonderfully majestic scale, but the city lots, country plots and orchards and farm grounds have been beautified and cultivated and planted until the valleys are a paradise to behold. No wonder that once a visitor to California, always an admirer of the state, and a resident thereof if fate and fortune will permit.

"I am only sorry that I cannot devote more praise to beautiful California. If I did the wonderful cities and country full justice it would take all the space in my publications for the coming year. All I can do is to give a liberal space each week for several months to come.

Educated and Sold

"Personally I am educated and sold on California, and will be glad to tell all my friends truthfully of the wonderful sights to be seen in the land of the setting sun, of its very progressive and high class people, and of its remarkable prospects for the future.

"The climate also is another thing the editors were all raving about. In making the trip in July many of us thought we would suffer with the hot weather. This was the biggest surprise of all. In the weeks spent in California, July, we did not suffer one single hour of inconvenience. The weather was ideal, and perfect all the time. Instead of spending the winters in the Golden Gate state, we say, spend the summers there if you desire to enjoy life.

"I think it can be truthfully said that when the 500 members of the N. E. A. who visited California in 1925, retire and move to Heaven on Earth, they are going to California."

ture will be made within a few days.

AUTOMOBILE DEALERS SEEK TO REDUCE NUMBER OF SHOWS
HELD EACH YEAR IN COUNTY

Santa Ana automobile dealers approve of but one automobile show each year and may determine that the one show be held in conjunction with the Orange County fair, it was indicated yesterday noon, at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Auto Trades association. The meeting was held at Ketter's cafe.

H. A. Lake, chairman of the fair committee; George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; Frank Purinton, chairman of the automobile committee of the fair board, and J. R. Hunt, manager of the fair, were present at the meeting yesterday and asked automobile dealers who were present why they did not wish to display cars in the auto show at the fair.

Object to Leaky Tents

Automobile dealers declared that at present there were three shows each year—at the county fair, the Valencia orange show, and in Santa Ana. The cost of each show was about $500 for each dealer, the automobile men declared. They also insisted that inadequate tents had caused several new cars to be ruined during certain shows.

In the discussion which followed, the automobile dealers agreed that autumn is the ideal time to hold an automobile show and expressed themselves as willing to co-operate with the Orange County fair if the fair board would agree to that the automobile show at the fair would be the only one during the year.

All automobile dealers of the city are expected to be present at the meeting of the Auto Trades association, next Monday, when it is believed a decision will be reached to support the Orange County fair automobile show. Members of the fair board also will be present at the meeting.

Would Discontinue Show

If the plan is adopted for the annual Santa Ana automobile show will be discontinued and Santa Ana dealers will not exhibit at the Orange show, in Anaheim.

Revoking drivers' licenses does not accomplish the desired result in curbing lawlessness on the highways, according to Kenneth E. Morrison, justice of the peace in the Santa Ana township, who yesterday talked before the auto trades association, at Ketter's cafe.

According to Morrison, few men will admit that they have ever been arrested before and if the operator's license is revoked by one judge, there is no way for any other judge or officer to know about it. Only two men have admitted that they had ever been arrested before, during the two years of Morrison's administration, according to the justice.

Blames Cut-In Artists
"Drunkness, speed, children playing in the streets and the cutting in, are the main causes of accidental deaths, according to Morrison. He said that the man who cuts-in is more dangerous than the speeder and he has sent several men to jail for cutting-in, he said, only to have it appear in newspapers as another 50-mile an hour speeder. The usual excuse of the speeder is: "I didn't know I was going that fast," according to Morrison.

R. Leslie Kelley and W. Russell Price, publishers of a motor car values blue book, stressed the necessity of co-operation among legitimate dealers to eradicate the "boot-leg" dealer, who buys a junk car for a few dollars, trades it to the dealer on a new car for a big price, and then sells the new car at a discount.

M. S. Robinson acted as chairman of the meeting yesterday. Major Anderson will be chairman of the program next Monday.

Snake Causes Panic
CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—A six-foot python, crawling up State near Madison, "the world's busiest corner," caused a panic as hundreds ran to safety. The reptile, used by a dancer in her act, escaped from a hamper in which she was carrying it. She pursued and retrieved it after which a disreputable policeman advanced and arrested her for disorderly conduct.

Fifth Consecutive Season at RoKiLi Is Brought to Close and Door Locked

The gates of Camp RoKiLi will close for the season today, when the last group of Boy Scouts, 45 in number, will go over the hill, the rustic gate at the entrance will close and the big latch will be officially locked for the fifth consecutive season of camping for the scouts of Orange county. This year more than 200 scouts have had the pleasure of attending the camp, making a total of some 447 "boy weeks" in the almost two months of its operation.

Last Saturday, the camp was officially inspected by Scout Executive Roland Dyer and W. Y. Whitman, president of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club. The new stockade gate had just been completed so the visiting officials were greeted with a ceremony somewhat different than usual. The gate, constructed of logs, is balanced on two huge hollowed boulders, and hung at the top on two towers with horizontal log supports. The latch is made of a split log.

Gate Formally Opened

The ceremony last Saturday composed the formal swinging of the gates of RoKiLi, with the entire personnel of the camp standing at attention on either side of the road with "colors" at the head of the line. Directors Prescott and Lamb were in charge of the ceremony.

At the camp road has been placed this year a 15-foot totem, which serves as an ornamental guide to camp. However, before a "out leaves camp, he is able to "read" the totem. On it is written the purpose of Camp RoKiLi. The thunder bird, perched on top, represents the strength of outdoor life; a smiling face portrays the fun of camp; below this a serious face indicates that each, on leaving camp, is expected to carry away some of the more serious teachings and lessons of camp, then comes the fox's head to represent outdoor cunning learned and the owl's head to represent the wisdom gathered from experience of all phases of scouting at RoKiLi, and the last is the fish's head, showing that each boy has an opportunity to learn to swim in camp.

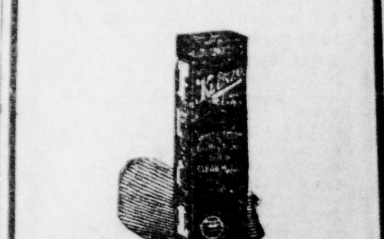

Scrub Neck and Ears

Every boy is required to bathe each day he is in camp and thorough inspections of beds, clothing and body are made regularly. The boy who has not been able to keep neck and ears clean sometimes gets those members scrubbed for him, with some "repeaters" getting a touch of the "kiri" brush thrown in.

The 200 scouts and another 200 visitors at RoKiLi during the summer are strong boosters for the camp.

The camp won a friend in J. T. Temple, 66 years old, who spent a week there and hiked with the boys to the top of Grayback, which is regarded as a feat of which any man may be proud.

WHERE DOES THE LITTLE CONEY LIVE?

Tire Re-Treading—We use rubber—Ha, Ha! They Wear!

"We were talking, wife and I, and she asked, 'Where does the Little Coney live?' And as I have considerable vagaries due to slight metabolism of the pericardium, my answer was brutally true. Madam, they're European rabbits.

Now comes the National Better Business Bureau with a list of true and trade names of furs. They tickle me. But the Coney tickles most. Beaver, Kit, Leopard, Mole, Nutria, Seal—all Coney and ALL DYED Australian or European rabbit.

"What is it to you?" you ask.

Nothing, except the vagaries are variously inveigled at the vague veiling of the truth, and I was thinking what would happen to tires if—of course, it can't be. Tires must deliver. Our tires do that trick so well that we guarantee 'em personally and like to do it.

Bewitching Beauty

That peach-bloom texture!—why isn't it yours?

NO STRIKING beauty ever neglects her skin—the very foundation of her "dash"—for bewitching beauty. Nor does she rely upon make-up to hide red, roughened texture, mudiness, tan or other blemishes. These hindering disfiguring annoyances caused by exposure to time and weather, the enlarged pores resulting from imperfectly cleansed skin, are never completely covered up by make-up no matter how skillfully applied. But they can be removed permanently, and any woman can enjoy a skin of lovely texture and bewitching charm, which is her natural right. The secret? Use El Estado Lemon Creaming Creme, made from purest Lemon Oil, mildly bleaching, wonderfully cleansing, to restore the bloom of youth, tone up the tired muscles of the face, and eradicate the unsightly blemishes. Massage it gently into the pores with careful upward strokes. Then wipe it off with a soft cloth. After one trial you will be convinced that this pure cream, unspiced by acids of any sort, is the one face tonic you have always hoped to find. If you make a practice of leaving it on all night, it will gradually clear up those disgusting stains under the eyes, together with the tan and roughness. Most toilet counters feature this amazing cream in dollar jars, but if you wish to try it before you buy it, we will gladly mail you a free sample. * * * El Estado Products Co., Seattle, Washington.

INDIAN REPAYS ATTORNEY WITH SECRET OF GOLD

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 17.—Gun-a-Noot and the man who saved him from the gallows after one of the most romantic Indian murder trials ever held in Canada, are about to invade the far north in search of gold famous in Indian legend, but so far never seen by white men.

During the 13 years of wandering through the northern British Columbia wilderness as a fugitive from justice, Gun-a-Noot found mineral deposits of untold richness, he declares, and now he is about to reveal the secret to the man who saved him from the gallows.

Enjoys Remarkable Career This exploit is likely to be the last in the life of one of the most remarkable Indians western Canada has ever known. Gun-a-Noot's career has seldom been surpassed for wild adventure. Twenty years ago, June 19, two men were murdered at Hazelton. Gun-a-Noot was accused of shooting them to avenge an insult to his wife. He fled into the unknown north with her on their dog sleds. His guilt was obvious, police asserted.

Then for years small armies of policemen trailed him from one place to another through the wilderness, sometimes finding his campfires, frequently finding across his trail, but never catching up to him. Altogether the British government spent $50,000 in a combing of the northern woods, but without result. The searchers vainly sought to surround him, to lure him into civilization, to trick him to surrender. He was like a ghost, slipping from place to place, but never seen. Gun-a-Noot, young, handsome and brave, was the idol of the northern tribes and they shielded him. Against their efforts the work of the police was hopeless.

Then Offer to Surrender At last the authorities gave Gun-a-Noot up and he was allowed to go. Then, in the spring of 1919, almost 13 years after the Indian's escape, Henderson, who had won the confidence of the northern tribes in many trials, received a message from Hazelton asking him to hurry there. The Victoria lawyer disappeared into the wilds for weeks and there met the fugitive.

Gun-a-Noot wanted to return to civilization so his children might be educated and he might settle down in peace. He offered a sporting proposition with his life in the balance and the police accepted it—he would stand trial if Mr. Henderson could defend him. Unannounced, Gun-a-Noot walked into the Hazelton jail one day and he faced a jury. His plea was "not guilty," and the Indian, commonly believed to be responsible for a double murder, was acquitted by the jury without hesitation. After 13 years as an outcast, he was free to go as he pleased.

Settled Down Gun-a-Noot went back to his country and settled down. He prospered and became wealthy and, among whites as well as his own tribesmen, he is highly respected. Gun-a-Noot is past 50 years of age. Ever since his return to civilization he had wanted to go back to a secret valley in which he lived during his wanderings.

He stake mined claims. To Mr. Henderson he offered to let him profit by a reward for saving his life before a white man's jury. The two disappeared into the wilderness the other day, confident of returning with samples of ore which will make them wealthy.

ALLEGED CATTLE THIEF ARRAIGNED

Michael Matchekoff, 50, held in the county jail on a grand larceny charge in connection with the alleged theft of four calves from an Orange county rancher, was arraigned last yesterday before Justice Kenneth Morrison and examining trial set for tomorrow morning. Bail in his case was set at $1000.

Matchekoff was arrested early yesterday morning by Ed. McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, on suspicion of cattle thieving, when the officer is alleged to have found Matchekoff driving along a desert road with a calf in the rear of his car.

Matchekoff could not prove ownership of the cattle at the time, so officers brought him to the county jail. The four calves reported stolen were from the ranch of Dean Johnson, near Westminster, and were stolen on August 13, it is said.

Shafer Tops L. A. Club Golf Field

Forecast Issued On Grape Crop FRESNO, Aug. 17.—Providing the present conditions are maintained until the harvest has been completed, the California grape crop this year will total approximately 2,766,000 tons, according to a forecast by C. E. Schultz, representative of the U. S. department of agriculture here. The total production in 1925 was 1,855,000, Schultz said.

Dundee to Meet Fred Bretonnel

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Johnny Dundee, before he starts west to fight Tod Morgan, is to meet Fred Bretonnel, lightweight champion of Europe. The bout is scheduled for tomorrow night at Ebbets field. Dundee once "ran out" on a match with the French boxer because of a small purse.

GREECE MAKING MANY LOANS TO BOOST DRACHMA

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Greek government, early in need of funds to bolster up the drachma, has contracted a number of loans in continental markets as a preliminary move to obtaining extensive credit in England and the United States. Among the loans made to date was one concluded with the "wedding match" monopoly combine Greece, this company having advanced the Greek government 10 million dollars at 8 1/2 percent interest for 25 years, with the right of increasing the price of all matches supplied to the government. Other similar private loans are in prospect, according to reports reaching London and Athens, with the result that President Pangalos is preparing to resume negotiations for loans from the British and U. S. governments.

"After the conclusion of these new loans," Pangalos declared in an interview in Athens, "I will not request again, but I will demand the immediate release of the American war credits to Greece as a matter of obligation on the part of the U. S. government. Trusting in the great power, I hope that these credits will be released at last to us, when the discussion of our war debt to America would re-start on a favorable basis."

Not only does this statement reveal a new policy on the part of the Greek president, but it put an official end to recent rumors, circulated in Greece and elsewhere on the continent, that the United States had already agreed to release these war credits to Greece.

Discussing the breakdown of the negotiations here for the funding of the Greek war debt to Great Britain, Pangalos said that the conditions put forward to the Greek exchequer, by Chancellor Churchill, were "unacceptable" to Greece, but that the government would have to consider the possibility of raising a loan in London, so "every hope of the negotiations being resumed has not vanished."

In the meantime, the Greek treasury is striving to keep the drachma from following the down trail of the franc and the lira, and is considering first one and then another scheme for new taxation.

VETERANS PROMPT IN LOAN PAYMENTS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 17.—Success of the farm and home purchasing program for California veterans is proved by the monthly principal and interest payments, it was announced by State Treasurer Charles C. Johnson, in his report on financial transactions of the state veterans' welfare board.

George M. Stout, secretary of the veterans' board, paid $213,195 into the state treasury under the semi-annual interest settlement, just concluded, bringing the interest total thus far to $561,743.38. Bond redemption payments have reached $419,000 and $883,390 will be set aside to meet bond and interest charges during 1927, according to the treasurer.

The proposed $50,000,000 bond issue, to extend the farm and home purchase program, merely constitutes an extension of the state's credit, and does not involve any state debt, Johnson points out. The splendid record of California veterans to date in paying for their property, he says, is a sufficient indication of their reliability.

Stage and Screen

WEST COAST WALKER "The Waning Sex," the picture starring Norma Shearer, from the Broadway stage success of the same name by Frederic and Fanny Hatton, which closes at the West Coast-Walker theater tonight is a picture exactly suited to the taste and requirements of the discriminating picture-goer.

It is comedy with a snap and sparkle, an exhilarating, zesty tempo, and it even has plot, not with an artificial heaviness, but well-balanced and interesting. Norma Shearer has the role of a successful woman lawyer, while Conrad Nagel, her leading man, is cast as the rising young district attorney who is in love with her. She is really in love with him but she is a modern-day woman whose independence is as precious to her as a man's is to him and she is a bit wary of matrimonial gestures.

Ted Doner is back in the Fanchon and Marco idea with his agile limbs and a pleasing voice, in one of the greatest novelty acts ever produced at the West Coast-Walker. The setting depicts the beach club with an orchestra on porch beneath colored awnings and palm trees, with the beach to one side.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER First National's long heralded photoplay, "Men of Steel," opened last night at the Yost Broadway theater. It was worth waiting for.

Milton Sills, who is credited with the authorship of the story, is seen in the starring role, Doris Kenyon has the leading woman's role.

Mac Allison is superb, and George Fawcett, Frank Currier, Victor McLaglen and John Kolb do much to make the picture a success.

Vaudeville numbers include Karl Karey at the piano, singing his own "musical cartoons" on standard and popular songs. Karey is far above the average piano and vocal singles and has some clever specialties that don't need a book to get across.

"Musical Nonsense," dispensed by Debee and Weldon, is something a bit different in xylophone turns. The two men are talented musicians and play an interesting group of selections. One of the members of the duo manages to be consistently funny in a boob characterization. He creates many laughs with his clowning on the xylophone, and more laughs are provided with other track instruments.

Boyless Town Has Cause to Rejoice

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The "boyless village of England" has a boy at last. Beanworth, in Hampshire, northeast of Winchester, was known because it did not boast any boys in its population. The parish vicar had to content himself with a choir of girls. Now he soon can have a boy soloist, since Mr. and Mrs. Knight have a son.

The trouble is said to be a lack of cottages. None have been built in Beanworth for more than 50 years, so when the young men want to settle after marriage they must usually find homes elsewhere. The young Knight boy has a slightly older sister, but the next in age among the young men of Beanworth is 16 years old.

Indian Relics Are Placed on Exhibit

In keeping with the annual blanket event of the Rankin dry goods store, an interesting exhibit of Indian articles and relics, owned by R. G. Tutill, of Santa Ana, has been arranged throughout the store. Miss Brownie Andrews, who operates the elevator, has her lift decorated with highly colored Indian blankets and herself has donned an Indian costume, some of the adornments of which were given her father by a granddaughter of Chief Sitting Bull. Tutill was associated with Indians for many years and his collection is said to be one of the most complete in Southern California. He plans to devote an entire room in his new Broadway Park home to his exhibit.

Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whiteners, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, most colorful of all the "beeg, strong fellers" is in our midst.

The big grappler and his wife are visiting Mrs. Lewis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Weaver, of Garden Grove and, to use his own words, Lewis "is doing a little work to keep in shape."

The "little work" consists of an hour and a half's struggle daily with a 400-pound sparring partner, which in this case happens to be a huge canvas bag filled with sand and strung on an iron bar. After this comes a "little road work"—running miles and miles under the sun's blistering rays to ward away excessive adiposities which, is poison to wrestlers and boxers.

Getting in Condition

As a matter of fact, it is no particular secret that "Strangler" Lewis is turning up, getting in shape to regain the wrestling title he held so long and which he thinks is within his power to regain.

Belief that Lewis is preparing for his comeback at this Garden Grove "camp" was strengthened today when it was learned that Billy Sandow, the ex-champion's manager, posted a $5000 forfeit with the state athletic commission yesterday in a gesture for a match with Joe Stecher, the present world's titleholder. Sandow put up the cash as a no-appearance bond and asserted, according to dispatches, that he also was willing to wager that amount as a side-bet that Lewis would defeat Stecher.

Lewis and Sandow will leave Garden Grove next week for Salt Lake, Portland and Seattle, where the "Strangler" has scheduled engagements. Then he will return to Southern California ready for that all-important contest with Stecher—if it can be arranged.

Praises Young Foes

Asked whom he considered his two most dangerous adversaries in the grappling sport, Lewis responded that Joe Melkowitz, Utica, N. Y., and Joe Mont, the Colorado "cow-boy," were developing fast and in a few years would be set for a fling at the championship honors. Both young men have made rapid progress up the wrestling ladder, Lewis stated.

"Most people have a mistaken idea about wrestling," Lewis said. "As a matter of fact, wrestling is not a matter of mere strength. It requires intelligent study and work. It's not half as brutal as boxing. American fans condemn Spain and Mexico for their bull fights, but will go to a boxing bout and watch a man pounded and hammered until the blood is pouring from him and his life is in danger."

Boxing tears a man down. Wrestling builds him up, bringing every muscle in his body into action.

"Few boxers are physically fit or able to don the gloves after they are 35 years of age. Most of the wrestlers are just getting started at that age. Several of the game's most skilled mat men have passed the 50 age."

Heydler Opens Pirate Dispute Probe

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 17—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, arrived here and opened his probe in the differences between the management of the Pirates and Max Carey, Babe Adams and Carson Bigbee shortly before noon today.

Newspapermen were barred from the meeting when it began, but Heydler announced that if any charges involving a club scandal or anything other than just friction between players and management, he would decide on an open hearing.

FLUORS RALLY STORM FORCES IN 9TH. BEAT U. S. MERMAID BLAUERS, 4-3 FROM CHANNEL

After pursuing its opposition through eight surprising rounds and apparently on the verge of taking a rather unexpected twist on the button, the Fluor Construction company indoor baseball team rallied in the last of the ninth, scored three before a man had been retired and won a heart-stopping Santa Ana league decision from the city champions, the Blauer grocery, at Lincoln park last night. Only a fair crowd witnessed the 4 to 3 thriller.

Hitting opportunely and taking advantage of Gus Homer's periodic wildness, the Blauers got out in front in the fifth, added a pair of counters in the seventh and entered the last of the final spasm a couple of runs to the good—all of which meant not a thing in the lives of the scrappy Constructionists.

Johnson Smashes Homer.

Rasmussen, the first of their wrecking crew, was safe on a close play at first base on his infield hit. Johnson followed with a sock to left that went for a homer and sent Rasmussen in ahead of him when the ball popped over English's head. Stark was safe on an error and took second on a wild pitch.

Cole hit a spinning bouncer in front of the plate and was safe at first and Stark dashed in from second with the winning score when Berry's relay to the plate eluded Allender.

Bill Middlebrook of the Grocers brought in the first tally of the night in the fifth. He was safe on an error, took third on Hitt's double to right and scored on West's infield out. The Fluors tied matters in their half after two were down when Si Fluor drew a walk and scored from first on "Red" Moon's double to right.

Blauers Score Twice

A pass to Hayden, Hillyard's infield single, a wild pitch, Middlebrook's single to right and another wild pitch gave the Blauers their two runs in the seventh.

Homeier pitched for the Fluors because Lloyd Johnson must work for Whittier in tonight's Southern California championship contest with Arlington. Homeier broke his CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 17.—Lillian Cannon will make another attempt to swim the English channel this week, despite her experience early today when a heavy electrical storm broke out of the darkness above the channel and compelled her to abandon a promising effort after two and one-half hours in the water.

Lillian came back here to stop after a plucky swim under the worst conditions any channel swimmer has encountered during the recent season. She stepped into the water at 12:55 a. m. and had reached an excellent position four miles off shore at the end of the second hour in the water when the storm broke with amazing suddenness.

Several times the Baltimore girl was lost to sight in the darkness.

The sky was streaked with lightning and thunder rolled ominously overhead.

The experts accompanying Lillian advised her to quit and reluctantly she did so at 3:25 a. m.

At 4 a. m. S. Lion, champion French woman distance swimmer, was aboard an accompanying tug and her sympathy was keen for the girl in the water.

"I know the terrors of the channel," she said, "calling the 'light' last year when da news and exhaustion overwhelmed her when success seemed probable.

Lillian said today that she felt that she had experienced about the worst the channel could do to her and that she was not afraid.

"I was just getting nicely warmed up and going good," she said, "when the storm broke. For an hour and a half I smiled while the lightning and thunder alternated overhead and a gale swept the channel. But when the tug became unmanageable, I was afraid I would cry. They could not handle it at the slow pace necessary to keep abreast of me. There was nothing to do but quit.

"The channel certainly played one of its meanest tricks on me because when I started the weather was ideal."

Four Santa Ana hunters were enroute to the big game country of Alaska and British Columbia today, hopeful of bagging many trophies during their invasion of the lair of the moose, caribou, bear, sheep and goat.

Urban Plavan, 2685 North Main street, and his brother, Leland Plavan of Greenville, left this morning by automobile for British Columbia.

George Briggs, veteran big game hunter and sportsman of 644 North Broadway, and his son-in-law, Howard Timmons, 507 East Twentieth street, sailed several days ago for Alaska.

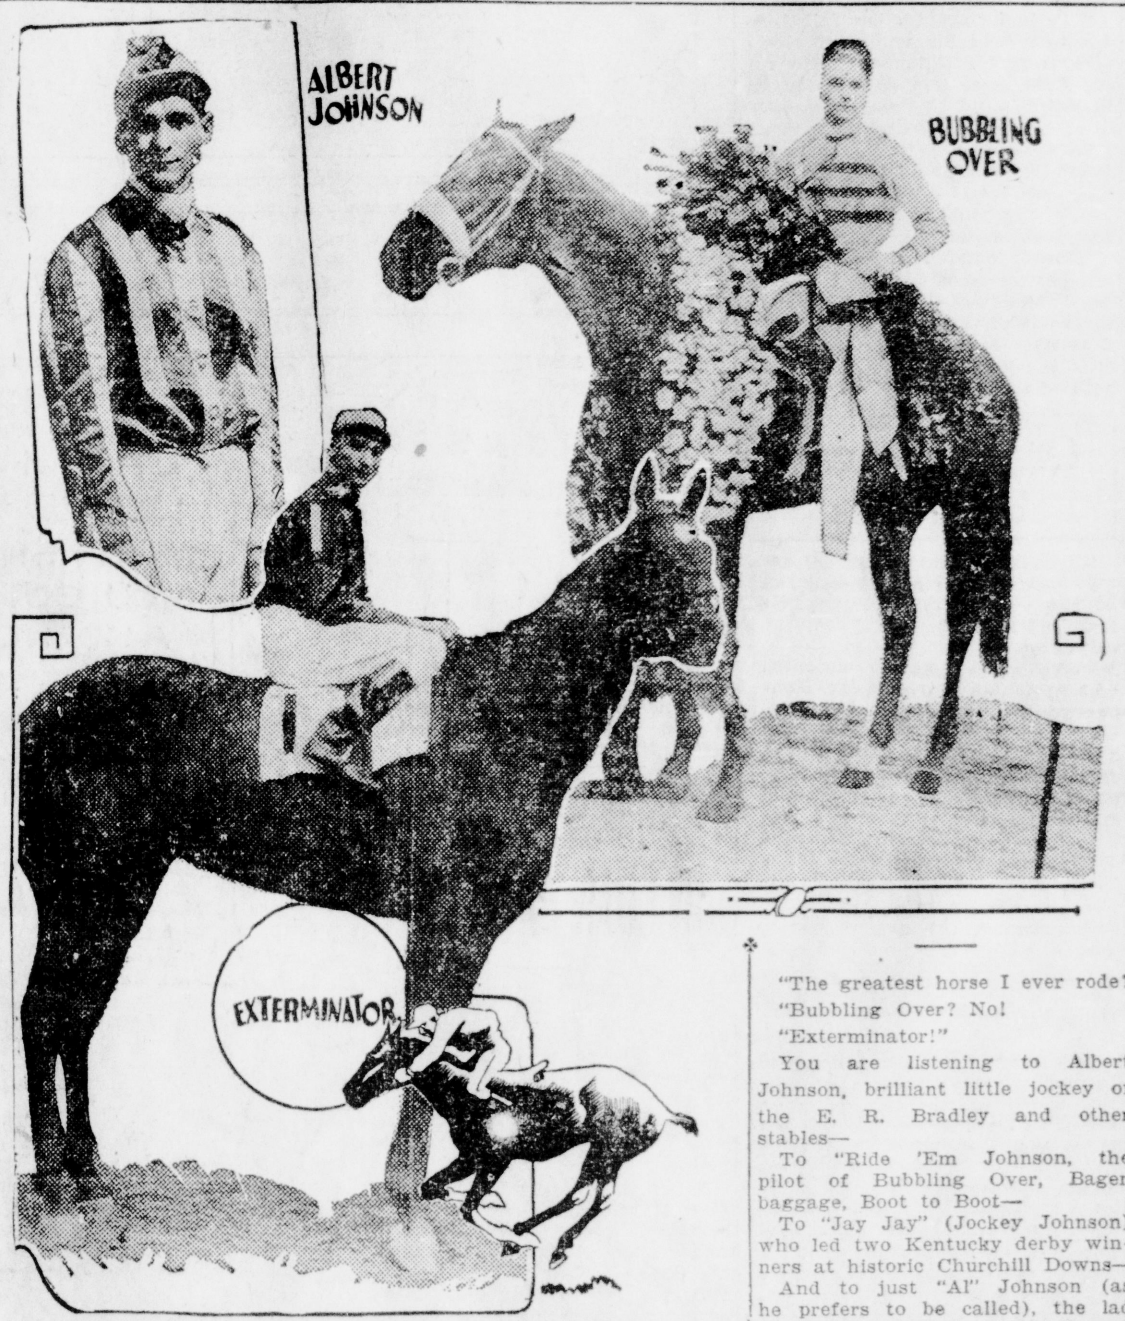

Briggs and Timmons will land at Wrangell, Alaska, and "pack in" via Telegraph creek to the famed Cassiar district of British Columbia where Briggs, hunting in 1923, brought down one moose, one sheep and two caribou and two of the prized white goats.

The Plavan brothers will experiment with the use of the automobile in the big game country, intending to motor into British Columbia, driving as far inland north as possible and then ferry and ship their machine into the logging districts above which are to be found moose, caribou, sheep and goats.

Urban Plavan hunted in the same region last year, bagging both moose and caribou.

"This will be the first big game hunt for Leland Plavan and Timmons."

STAR JOCKEY SAYS EXTERMINATOR TURF KING

"The greatest horse I ever rode? "Bubbling Over" No! "Exterminator!"

You are listening to Albert Johnson, brilliant little jockey of the E. R. Bradley and other stables—

"Ride 'Em Johnson, the pilot of Bubbling Over, Bagen baggage, Boot to Boot—

To "Jay Jay" (Jockey Johnson) who led two Kentucky derby winners at historic Churchill Downs—

And to just "Al" Johnson (as he prefers to be called), the lad that rode famous "Old Bones" (Exterminator) in many of that great horse's triumphs.

Won Many Big Events

Followers of the turf will recall the gallant deeds of the redoubtable Exterminator, that splendid fighting racehorse which roamed the tracks several years ago.

Exterminator, the 1918 winner of the Kentucky derby; Exterminator, the horse that copped the famous Saratoga cup four years in a row; Exterminator, winner of the Brooklyn handicap in 1922 and many other great events.

The present American track record for two miles, as the turf boys know is 2:21.4-5. Exterminator made it at Belmont park in 1920. He made it as a five-year-old, carrying 128 pounds.

Johnson tells you his greatest thrill was on Exterminator, on "Old Bones" as the mite affectionately refers to his former mount. It wasn't at Churchill Downs, either.

And this despite the fact he is one of the few jockeys ever to have piloted two Kentucky derby winners—Morvich in 1922 and Bubbling Over last May. (A Kentucky success is considered the main objective of all riders, the outstanding achievement.)

That Pimlico Cup Race

"It was back in 1921," says Johnson, "in the Pimlico cup race at two miles and a quarter. I was atop 'Old Bones.' Earl Sande was riding Boniface, a fine mount, by the way. We fought it out head and head most of the distance on a muddy track.

"Into the stretch we turned. It looked like a dead heat. But as we neared the finish, I managed to shove 'Old Bones' out in front."

LOCAL HUNTERS OFF FOR LAIR OF MOOSE

PROMOTER MAY GO TO COURTS FOR BIG BOUT

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Tex Rickard, promoter, announced this afternoon that he would go to court to compel the license committee to permit the scheduled world championship heavyweight fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, scheduled for Yankee stadium here September 16.

Rickard conferred with his lawyer, Arthur F. Driscoll, after a meeting of the boxing board today, at which the board put the matter of the license committee's refusal to license Dempsey up to Rickard.

Rickard announced suit would be in the form of a mandamus to compel the license committee to give Dempsey his papers. Driscoll began at once drawing up the papers for presentation to court.

Rickard announced that Dempsey, from his training camp, had sent word that he was bringing a similar suit.

The New York Boxing commission today passed back to Rickard the task of securing Dempsey a license.

The committee discussed the action of the license committee taken yesterday in denying Dempsey a license, and apparently decided it could do nothing.

"It is all up to the interested parties now," Commissioner George Brower said after the meeting. "There is nothing the commission can do. It cannot sue, as it is not an aggrieved party."

The license committee, according to the opinion of Attorney General Ottinger, has no legal right to refuse Dempsey a license after he had been declared to be in good standing by the commission.

Col. John J. E. Phelan, chairman of the license committee, which ruled last night that Dempsey could get a license only when he agreed to accept the challenge of Harry Wills, seemed unconcerned over the opinion of the attorney general, made public while the committee was meeting.

"That's just the opinion of one individual to another," Phelan said. "It is not likely that Dempsey will enter suit against the attorneys who were in conference today with Rickard but it was understood they were discussing the $333,333 suit filed against the champion by Jack Kearns, his former manager, seeking a one-third share of Dempsey's earnings under his contract."

DEARTH OF PROSPECTS

Why the dearth of big league prospects in the minors?

None of the experts on the national pastime seem able to account for the scarcity of high class raw material.

Met Jack Slattery in Chicago the other day, Jack, once a big leaguer himself, now doubles in brass as far as baseball is concerned.

Until the close of the college year he is Coach Jack Slattery of Boston college, the professor of baseball at that institution.

Immediately upon the finish of the "Rah Rah" season, he dons a disguise and takes up duties of baseball sleuth for the Boston Nationals.

Jack is rated one of the best scouts in the business and his observations on the baseball situation are of interest.

MATERIAL NOT THERE

"The material just doesn't seem to be there," was Slattery's answer to my query as to how many future stars he had dug up.

"There are more minor leagues than ever, making a greater supply but the players with big league possibilities are few and far between."

"This is particularly true of pitching. The lively ball appears to have taken a lot of glory out of the position of pitcher. That condition is very striking in the colleges."

rial in the colleges and then developing it is quite a task. College athletes prefer playing a position in which it is a pretty good bet they will stick the nine in-pitchers. The pitcher is in danger of being derelict at any time.

"With perhaps father, mother, sister and sweetheart sitting in the grandstand, no collegian wants to be yanked out, degraded in the way he puts it, before a big crowd."

It is easy to appreciate the situation Slattery has put and it also explains the scarcity of college pitchers to a certain extent.

PIRATES HAVE CLAIM

"Have you looked over many minor leaguers you would be willing to bank on making good?" I asked him.

"Not over a half dozen," replied Slattery, "and when I started to talk ubusiness with the club on which they played, I found that in most cases the Pittsburgh club had a string on them."

"Apparently the Pittsburgh club has a pretty good developing system. Most of the players on whom I learned the security of college pitchers to a certain extent."

RHODES LOOKS BETTER

I was rather interested in what Slattery had to say about "Choppy Rhodes and Roland Locke, two former Nebraska university stars who are now performing in the Western league.

"I think Rhodes is a better prospect than Locke," said Slattery. "This fellow Rhodes, who was a great halfback, looks to have the makings of quite a pitcher. He has with John Collins, former American leaguer, now managing Des Moines. That's fortunate for him, as Collins is a smart baseball man and will help him."

It is easy to work a game in which he showed plenty of stuff, but also made it apparent that he has much to learn about pitching. Very green."

SEES PIRATE VICTORY

Slattery feels positive that Pittsburgh will win in the National league. He regards it as much the best club in either circuit.

"Pittsburgh should repeat in the National and ought to defeat New York, who appear to be certain champions in the American. Only a wild batting spree by the Yanks would give them the edge."

"The Pirates have speed, a batting punch, a good defense and better than the average pitching."

"This fellow Waner has been a great help to the Pittsburgh team. He has stepped right into the outfield and made good in every department. He's the winning player type."

The Pirate, to win a pennant and world series is Slattery's hope.

COUNCIL VOTES ACCEPTANCE OF STREET DEEDS

Discussion of routine matters, as well as action on sundry requests, petitions and applications for minor improvements, featured last night's meeting of the city trustees, held in the council chamber.

A protest of John Pugh, 728 East First street, against the condition of the pavement in front of his residence, was overruled in this connection. The trustees confirmed the general assessment plan for the paving of East First street. Because of certain stop orders relating to unpaid accounts, it was directed that no warrants be delivered until the contractors have satisfied the city authorities that all claims relating to the contract have been satisfactorily settled.

To Accept Deeds
The city trustees voted to accept deeds for certain strips of land located on North Bristol street, to be used for street purposes.

Instead of following the recommendation of the city planning commission, the council voted to accept a deed to a certain piece of land lying along Santiago creek, between Valencia and Santiago streets.

No Action on Request
No definite action was taken on a request that the city install a temporary lighting system on East Fourth street, between Main and Mortimer streets. Councilman George McPhee thought that the contractors should supply temporary lighting, indicating his unwillingness to saddle the city treasury with the extra expense.

Acts Adequate Lighting
William G. Knox, 935 Oak street, formerly city engineer, appeared before the council with a request that the city take up the matter of providing the southeast section of the city with adequate street lighting. Following some discussion on the subject, it was agreed that Knox bring in estimates of probable cost before any further action is taken.

A request that the city of Santa Ana donate a purse or stake for one of the leading events of the coming horse show at the county fair was referred to a special committee composed of George McPhee, E. B. Collier and Stanley E. Goode.

Pending further action in the matter of creating the office of city assessor, the trustees voted to defer the auditing of the city books until the new office has been established. Such an arrangement, it was explained, would give the city trustees an opportunity to prepare a workable budget.

Federal Money
For Farmers at 5 Per Cent Seen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A uniform interest rate of five per cent on loans to farmers by all federal farm loan banks was forecast by Acting Secretary of the Treasury Gerrard Winston. He said the government was to reduce the interest rate on money generally 5-1-2 per cent to farmers to this low rate in order to relieve the agricultural situation. He explained that, while the government borrowed money at 3-1-4 per cent, it was necessary to charge farmers 5 per cent to offset losses and to pay for operations.

DAYLIGHT SAVING
Editor Register: Why so much fussing about daylight saving? If people want to get up earlier in the morning, why, in the name of common sense, don't they get up, as hundreds—yes, thousands of us are doing, and not tamper with the clock?

The idea that people cannot get up until the clock strikes a certain hour is ridiculous. If business houses wish to open and close an hour earlier, there is no law to prevent. If employers and laborers wish to begin work and quit an hour earlier in summer, they can do so, and many of them do. Changing the clocks to maintain or any other time, will not change the sun. A great many people are already using every minute of daylight that is given us, and if the much talked about change is made, those people will find it necessary to begin work before daylight, in order to accomplish the things, which must be done before the noon hour arrives at eleven o'clock. Is it fair to make life so much harder for those, who are already working long hours, in order that the ones who do not work so many hours may have more time to play? MARY ANN JONES.

Film Will Reveal Speed Secrets of Speediest Human

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—Runners soon will be able to study closely the training and running methods of Paavo Nurmi, the flying Finn. During the champion runner's recent exhibition races in Berlin a film company induced him to pose for a one-reel act. This is soon to be exhibited.

Nurmi, who is of a varying disposition, at first was unwilling to be "shot," but finally he yielded when he was convinced he would render a service to other devotees of the cinder path.

Slow motion, with which the film abounds, will enable aspiring athletes to study the champion's every motion and observe the beauty and exactness of his stride.

JUDGE CLARKE, IN FIGHT MOOD, RETURNS SOUTH

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—Feeling fit and ready to plunge into his speaking campaign in Southern California, Judge Robert M. Clarke, candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator, arrived here last night.

"I regret," said Judge Clarke, "that my opponent failed to meet me in joint debate at Fresno. I have not yet received a reply to my wire, but I still am ready to engage in a joint discussion upon even short notice."

"The junior senator has failed, so far, to uphold his vote for Newberry and his failure to vote for the Reed resolution calling for an investigation of the use of money in the recent senatorial primaries."

"Now that he is in the south, I would like to discuss with him, and of course I will discuss before the people, the problem of representative government."

"How is it that Southern California, having more than two million people and more than 60 per cent of the votes of the state, has not had a senator for 10 years and how does San Francisco happen to have both of them?"

Orange County Fair Notes
The city of Orange has raised a $500 stake for the night horse show at the Orange County fair, September 6 to 11, inclusive. The city of Orange, the Merchants and Manufacturers' association and several service clubs contributed to the purse. Several community stakes are to be announced within a few days, the fair management said. Announcement will be made later concerning in what class the stakes will be placed.

Here are the officials for the horse show: John Ragan, Villa Park, chairman; E. J. Stinson, Orange, manager; Elbert Dettbach, Los Angeles, ring master for the evening performances; Jose Flores, Los Angeles, ring master for the rodeo and races.

Equipment for the kitchen at the Orange County fair was delivered this week to the Garden Grove Women's club, at the fair grounds. It has been installed and is in readiness for the hungry hordes which will invade the fair grounds, on the state highway between Anaheim and Santa Ana, September 6 to 11, inclusive. The first dinner to be served in the new dining hall at the fair grounds will be given August 24 to the newspaper editors, supervisors, fair directors and advisory board. On August 26, the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce will be host to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the county in the fair grounds dining hall.

Work rapidly is progressing in all departments of the Orange county fair grounds. This week will see the completion of the front entrance, grand stand, box stalls, dining and dance halls. Construction has started on the fences around the grounds. A great deal of time has been spent on the preparation of the quarter-mile track and the field where the horse show and regent events will be held. It is expected that the track will be in excellent condition on the opening day of the fair, September 6.

The American Legion of Orange county is planning one of the biggest events of the fair on the opening day. There will be special legion events on the field in the afternoon, in addition to the million dollar stock parade, which will be held at that time. In the evening of the first day, spectacular fireworks will be set off in front of the grand stand, in addition to the initial presentation of the historical pageant, "The Birth of an Empire."

Orange county harbor will be presented at the Orange County fair by a spectacular feature exhibit, which will occupy a space of about 600 square feet. The exhibit, provided by the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, will take the form of a yacht in motion.

La Habra, through the La Habra Farm Center, the city council and the chamber of commerce, will enter a stock and poultry. Garden Grove, winner of the sweepstakes prize at the county fair last year, will enter a huge 1-orty bell.

West Orange will have an exhibit based on the famous ride of Paul Revere. A replica of the Washington monument will be entered (the Anaheim Farm Center, Villa Park, Buena Park and Yorba Linda also will be represented).

MANY CHARGES FACING EDGAR

If J. B. Edgar, 24, of Los Angeles, is convicted on the numerous charges facing him, he will serve quite a number of days in prison, according to Orange county officials.

Edgar now is residing in the county jail awaiting his preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Hart, in La Habra, on charges of reckless driving and escaping from an officer.

Edgar was arrested originally in Brea on July 30 on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. During his hearing before Justice Charles Kinsler, he managed to slip out of the courtroom, unnoticed.

A determined search was started for Edgar, under the direction of H. W. Williams, chief of police in Brea. He was traced to Ontario, where he formerly worked in a restaurant, and later to a cabin near Girard. Chief Williams, with another officer, found, he says, Edgar and a young Ontario girl. As he was placing the two under arrest, Williams heard a machine approaching. Leaving the other officer in charge of the two in the cabin, Williams slipped out and surprised R. D. Pierce, 30, of Ontario, in the act of unloading a quantity of liquor, he says.

Pierce and the girl were taken to the Los Angeles county jail, while Edgar was brought to Santa Ana, to the county jail. Following Edgar's hearing in La Habra, he will be taken to Los Angeles to face charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and possession of liquor.

EXTERMINATOR KING OF TURF IS CLAIM

And—we held it. That WAS a race!

"Yes, Bubbling Over is a brilliant runner, a great mount. But I've always been strong for Exterminator. He was a real horse. He was as game and courageous as they make could be. He could carry state event atop Boot to Boot and the Kentucky classic with Bubbling Over, he also piloted Bagenhagge in the Latonia and Boot to Boot in the $100,000 America derby at Homestead.

Johnson has been riding for the last 10 years. His sensational work this season has placed him with America's leading jockeys. He already has four 1926 derbies to his credit. Besides taking the Ohio state event atop Boot to Boot and the Kentucky classic with Bubbling Over, he also piloted Bagenhagge in the Latonia and Boot to Boot in the $100,000 America derby at Homestead.

Johnson is 25 and like many other great riders comes from the far west—Idaho.

BARE HEADS FOR FUNERALS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 17.—Methods of showing reverence have changed in Turkey with the advent of modernism. Men must now bare their heads when at funeral passes. And they take off their hats, as a previous order banned the fez, which was kept on to show respect. Women may still retain their head dress and veils.

Johnny Webb, who lives at Norton, Va., is only 19, but weighs 612 pounds, and believes he is the largest man in the world for his age. He weighed 10 pounds at birth, 109 when a year old and 186 at the age of 3. He eats anything and everything and it takes 12 bottles of pop at one time to quench his thirst. His mother watches his diet, though—she says she's afraid he'll get too fat.

REUNITED AFTER 70 YEARS

Separated for 70 years, Mrs. Johanna Johnson, 76, of Tacoma, Wn., has met her "baby brother," Albert Larson, 71, of Mellett, Ind. And a fortune teller brought it about. Recently Larson tried to learn the address of his sister, from whom he had been separated by the death of their parents when he was a year old. The fortune teller told him a letter hidden in his home would give the clue. He went home and found an old letter written by relatives which enabled him to get knowledge of Mrs. Johnson's whereabouts.

MYSTERY SEEN IN DEATH OF FRANK CHAPMAN

An autopsy over the body of Frank Chapman, 36, nephew of C. C. Chapman, Fullerton capitalist, who died suddenly in his apartment in the Torrey Pines apartments, in Long Beach, last night, will be held in the beach city tomorrow, it was announced today by the Long Beach police department.

Chapman, who was manager of his uncle's citrus and mining interests, had started to retire for the night, when he suddenly fell to the floor. Dr. C. W. Ransom, who was called by the hysterical wife, refused to sign a death warrant.

Mrs. Chapman told Detective Sergeant E. B. Dixon and W. C. Wright and Officers Smith and Haas that her husband had been suffering from heart trouble and that he had been severely burned while bathing recently.

Chapman spent most of his time in Orange county, looking after his uncle's affairs. The Chapmans rented the apartment early in the summer. He had returned from Fullerton to Long Beach yesterday.

CHILD THEATER TRAINS YOUTHS IN NEW LINES

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—A juvenile melting pot in which children of all nationalities, from the tenement to the fashionable "Gold Coast," merge in the interest of dramatics, the Children's Civic theater of Chicago is in its 10th season with nearly 1000 children participating.

Every summer since 1916 this children's theater has been maintained at the municipal pier auditorium, leveling the social lines of birth and wealth to unite Chicago's children in the common interests of art.

Develops Leadership
It is financed by the city council, directed by Miss Bertha L. Lies and a permanent staff, sponsored by the Drama league of Chicago, and aided by the Civic Music association.

"Sugar coated training," Miss Lies calls the work, for beneath the fun the children have, the organization is intended to develop leadership, creativeness, initiative, tolerance and teamwork.

Most of the programs are suggested by the children, who also plan the costumes and stage settings. The season begins the first week in June and continues until September. Meetings are held three afternoons each week, with the third afternoon witnessing the production of programs prepared in two previous rehearsals.

While the programs are almost entirely of children's operas, dancing, short plays and sketches, the theater does not encourage dramatics or the stage as a profession.

"If any of them became true artists it will be from their own love of art rather than any encouragement from us," Miss Lies said.

Lesson for Mothers
Each season the children are granted one night at the Ravinia opera, and this year they presented a pageant of their own creation entitled "Our Chicago," depicting the history of the city.

But there are lessons for mothers as well. There was a well dressed American mother from an exclusive section talking with a foreign born mother from a less fortunate section, while they watched their children standing beside each other on the stage as cymbal bearers in an Arabian playlet.

Later the American mother turned to a friend: "Why she's so interesting—but I almost was embarrassed—why she speaks five languages and I have a terrible time with just my English."

Soldiers Become Bandits Because Currency Fails

MUKDEN, Aug. 17.—The recent serious fall of the Mukden currency, with its attendant effect on the cost of living, together with the non-payment of wages, is believed to be responsible for the large number of former Mukden soldiers turning into bandits and attacking Japanese and Chinese towns along the South Manchurian railway of late.

According to investigations by the Mukden Japanese police authorities, most of the soldier-bandits were formerly followers of the rebel general, Kuo Sung-lin, or regulars in Marshal Chang Tso-lin's forces who were forced to take to banditry because they failed to receive their pay regularly.

Here Is Device To Cure Masher

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—An anti-masher device, which looks like a wrist watch and can knock out an assailant by means of a low amperage electric shock of 1000 volts, is recommended to girls by a number of policewomen.

The contrivance, invented by Emil Prosser, of Gelsenkirchen, is worn on the wrist. Thin wires connect it with a tiny battery and induction coil carried in an inside pocket of a dress or the coat pocket of a man.

When needed, the wearer presses a button, swings at the bad man so as to touch his body and the fight is over.

UNITED STATES IN DEATH OF LEADER, CLAIM

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The United States today leads the world in aviation, according to Col. Paul Henderson, general manager of the national air transport.

The unequivocal statement is based on a nation-wide survey of the aeronautical chamber of commerce, findings of which were announced tonight by Col. Henderson, vice president and governor of the organization. The study shows that in the last year 5,500,000 miles were flown, more than 200,000 passengers were carried, and air express in excess of 112 tons was transported by the 290 commercial operators reporting to the chamber.

Optimizing the situation in which aviation found itself at the beginning of 1925, the survey says: "It was under-rated by a few influential officers of the army and navy. It was ignored insofar as practical action was concerned by leaders in public life; it was regarded as a business."

Industry Reorganized
"But now, in mid-summer 1926, it may be stated that much of the former reserve in the high command of the army and navy has disappeared. Positive and definite attention has been given by the administration and congress; and finally, with the entrance of responsible men and substantial capital into air transport, the place of aviation in commerce and industry is a new, very generally recognized."

There has been undoubtedly, a renaissance of flying, a new recognition of its importance in the life of the nation.

The survey, which was made by Luther K. Bell, traffic manager of national air transport, and former traffic manager of the United States air mail service, shows that no other country in the world approaches the existing and proposed air mail activities in the United States.

"The United States has now in operation 13 air transport routes, mileage of which totals 4076," the survey states.

"Of these, 11 are under Kelly contract air mail law, and two are under authority of foreign mail appropriations."

More Commercial Pilots
"We have probably more commercial operators than any other nation, due undoubtedly to the vast extent and the natural characteristics of our country. In 28 foreign nations there is a total of 102 air transport lines, most of them not regularly operated and none, so far as the aeronautical chamber of commerce could determine, lacking some sort of subsidy. In the United States not one of the existing or proposed air transport lines is receiving a cent of subsidy."

"With nearly 9000 miles of airways on schedule and with 2500 more in immediate contemplation, the United States undoubtedly takes the lead in world aviation. This network, which radiates from Chicago to practically every part of the United States, has had the effect, so far as the conduct of business is concerned, of reducing the transportation map to one-third its former size."

"The survey shows that, without national guidance, there actually exists in the United States today, a total of 3008 landing fields. Of these, 2782 for emergency, 226 are commercial, 310 are municipal, 102 are used by the army, 40 by the navy and 66 by the air mail service of the post office department. Seaplane stations number 103."

Must Eat Cold Meals to Save Belgium's Coal

BRUSSELS, Aug. 17.—By virtue of a series of decrees the cabinet has submitted to the king, the minister of labor is empowered to fix the maximum prices of coal and to limit its exportation. Public establishments will be closed for an hour in the morning, except in country towns. Hot meals will not be allowed to be served in the afternoon. The cabinet also considered a proposal to impose a tax of 10 francs on foreign motor cars coming to Belgium.

STRIKING CAMPAIGN FIRE

The quietness that has prevailed in relation to the campaign for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor has been swept aside in Los Angeles with an editorial in the Los Angeles Record directed to Burton Fitts calling on Fitts to expose what the Record calls "Merriam's black record."

The Record takes the view that Fitts, by reason of his failure to "show up" Merriam, is aiding Merriam's campaign. The newspaper is calling on Fitts to tell the people of California that Merriam is "the willing tool of the power corporations."

"The Record dares you to go down the line with it in an expose of Merriam's Sacramento history," says the Record. "We supply you herewith a few salient points of interest." And the Record then proceeds to recite its bill of particulars, including the charge that Merriam voted for "the Hartranft resolution favoring the taxation of publicly owned public utilities," and that he voted for "the perpetual franchise bill." The Record says that "Merriam is the picked candidate of Governor Richardson's corporation machine."

Asserting that Fitts "by platitudinous evasiveness" has failed of an opportunity to "assume the role of leadership in the age-long battle for the many against the powerful few," the Record declines to support him in his candidacy.

To those residents of Los Angeles who are not satisfied with Merriam's record and who do not approve of Fitts' campaign procedure, the avenue for reaching a decision as to how they will vote on August 31 is distinctly clear. If they want a candidate whose legislative record at Sacramento stands the closest scrutiny, if they want a candidate whose authorship of the King tax bill proves him to be independent of power and other big business influence, if they want a man who is clearcut in his views, a man who does not deal in platitudes and whose record as a public official and a newspaperman has never been one of evasiveness, they will vote for Lyman M. King, of Redlands.

We believe King to be, by far, the most dependable, the most experienced, the ablest, the most independent and therefore the best candidate before the people in these primaries, for the office of lieutenant governor.

REGULATING THE WEATHER

A clever resident of Humboldt county, named J. P. Hollenstein, has found a use for California fog—a commodity hitherto never included among useful California resources. He proposes to utilize it as a preventive of forest fires.

Such fires, he explains, are started by the sun's rays, or greatly aided thereby. When the air is still, the hot sun shining down upon a forest from a clear sky acts like a burning glass. An intervening layer of cool, moist air would denature those rays, explains Hollenstein. He wants the state forester to erect some simple but powerful "air blowers" which would create artificial air movements and drive in the dank fog from the Pacific whenever it is needed, safeguarding the forests to a distance of hundreds of miles inland.

Why stop there? If so much can be done in this direction, why not more? There must be great possibilities in those wind blowers. Why not blow Laguna Beach weather over the Santa Ana mountains to Riverside, or even to Brawley? And when a rain comes along, send it out on the Mojave and transform that unfruitful desert into a land of fields and forests? There are surely some possibilities in this weather-blower!

NEEDLESS DETOURS

"If a trunk line railroad can assemble a steel trestle and slip it into place between trains without interfering with traffic," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "it ought to be possible for the highway department to manage an ordinary road job without sending motorists miles out of their way on detours. It depends primarily on how much the responsible authority cares."

Motorists who have suffered from long and difficult detours will endorse that statement most heartily. An occasional detour is necessary, but it should be made passable before the main road is shut off. That should be part of the contract. Detours should be as short and as good as possible. To go eight or 10 miles out of the way on rough roads to give the road makers the use of a few hundred feet of exclusive roadway at a time seems hardly necessary.

DENTAL GUM ABROAD

American chewing gum, long viewed with polite horror in cultured Europe, has arrived at last. But in polite disguise.

Merely as something to chew at for pleasure, our chicle product was frowned on in Germany. If the Germans were going to chew gum, they would do it only from a sense of duty. So the manufacturers cannily persuaded the German minister of finance to remove the chewing gum from the list of imported "confections" and classify it as "dentifrice." That works better. The cultured Germans will now indulge without shame, in the consciousness—or at least in the belief—that the stuff is good for their teeth. Maybe it is.

LOW PRICES, HIGH PROFITS

For the eighth month in succession, Bradstreet's index has shown a drop in commodity prices. The index figure for August 1 is the lowest since the same date two years ago. The average decline is not great, but significant.

Ordinarily this would be taken as a bad sign. The business tradition is that only rising prices are good prices. The consuming public, however, has never been convinced of that, usually greeting lower prices with frank gratitude. Now business itself is coming to feel that lower prices at least have their compensations.

The reason for this changing viewpoint is clear.

Business generally is making money. The rising stock market is popular evidence of that. Statistical evidence is found in the enormous volume of railroad freight hauled, in the steel and automobile output, in the bank clearings and wage-payments and other accepted indices of business activity.

There is no mystery about the matter. American industry, through high efficiency and quantity production, finds that it can make more money by selling things cheaper than by selling them dearer. This is an economic mystery which still puzzles the Old World.

FOR THE SICK SERVICE MAN

We had written the above heading, "For the Sick ex-Service Man," and then we changed it. The "ex" was struck out.

For, truly, the man who is in a hospital today as the result of his part in the World war is still in the service of the government; surely, his part in the World war is not ended. Today, he is suffering more pain, more discouragement, than came to thousands upon thousands of ex-service men either during the war or after it. The man in the hospital is still fighting the fight. He is a service man today.

And it is for him that the Santa Ana auxiliary of the American Legion and the Santa Ana chapter of the American Red Cross are announcing their annual jolly days, this year August 27 and 28.

It is for him that housewives all over Santa Ana will set aside a few glasses of jelly or jam or a few jars of canned fruit, to be sent to him to cheer him along in his fight for life.

Looks like the leading American industry just now is observing centennials, not to mention sesquies.

Rumor Crushed to Earth

San Francisco Chronicle

The mystery surrounding the fate of Lord Kitchener is nothing but the product of vivid imaginations. The official story of the sinking of the Hampshire by a mine, and the death of all on board except twelve men who were rescued from a raft, has been told long since and backed with evidence as indisputable as the testimony of twelve men can be.

But stories about the Kitchener incident have kept bobbing up. They have dealt with the supposed operations of spies, of talkative army and navy officers who confided the secret of Kitchener's trip to their sweethearts, of treachery in high places. And Kitchener has been reported living as a prisoner in Siberia, as the inmate of a monastery in Tibet, or hiding in Russia. The most recent yarn is to the effect that his body has been found in a Scandinavian graveyard and is to be taken back to Scotland for a military funeral.

In an attempt to end the crop of rumors, the British government has officially reiterated its report on the death of Lord Kitchener. His ship was sunk by accidentally running on to a German mine. There was no question of betrayal involved. All on the ship were lost except the twelve men who managed to cling to their raft. The bodies of the victims never were found.

That is the whole story, but its publication will not stop the yarns from bobbing up. Such fables are like ghosts—you cannot do anything about them because they are not real.

Virtues and Vices

Oakland Tribune

In a symposium on secondary education participated in by teachers from fourteen states at the summer session of the University of Pennsylvania, laziness was termed the outstanding "vice" of modern high school pupils, "frankness" being their principal "virtue."

Also figuring prominently in the vote designating the shortcomings of the young students were "lack of concentration" and "sophistication." But 81 per cent of the teachers present went on record decidedly as of the opinion that their charges are not flippant, nor rebellious against discipline and old traditions, and not lacking in serious purpose. If the majority of students are not lacking in serious purpose, the charge of laziness seems to be a contradictory one. It is difficult to understand how the two can go together.

Perhaps, however, the students feel, as many of their elders do, that they have all the time in the world before them in which to "make good," and that today is the time in which to be merry.

Carried to excess, this point of view is regrettable. And the time will inevitably come when they will rue it.

PROVE HAY FEVER NOT CONTAGIOUS

About one hundred years ago several medical writers mentioned as curiosities patients who began to sneeze and wheeze at the time of the blooming of the roses.

In 1817 an English physician named Bostick described his own symptoms, which included a sense of heat and swelling of the eyes, with itching and sneezing and with much running of tears when one looked at the light. This was followed by a fullness in the head and irritation in the nose, with fits of severe sneezing, sometimes so violent as to cause pain in the chest.

Naturally a person afflicted with these symptoms would feel generally ill and be tired most of the time, because of inability to rest at night. Usually the symptoms appeared about the beginning or middle of June and disappeared toward the end of July.

After more and more cases of the disease were studied, it was found that there were also cases which appeared in the early summer and some which came on in the late summer and in the fall, and that persons in different sections of the country, were likely to succumb at different times to the disease.

The very earliest investigator, Bostick, gave to the disease the name of "summer catarrh," and also suggested the term "hay fever." Later investigators differed with that suggestion and experimented with extracts of the pollens of all sorts of flowers and grasses. The earliest observations disclosed that the appearance of the disease was definitely associated with the pollination of plants.

Another English physician, named Blackley, experimented on himself between 1856 and 1877 with the pollens of more than one hundred grasses and flowers, inhaling it and applying it to the membranes of his nose and eyes.

Later Dunbar proved that it is the protein portion of the pollen which brings on the symptoms in the more intense form, and that neither the whole pollen nor the protein extract would have any effect on normal persons, although they did produce the most severe symptoms in persons who were subject to the disease.

The average person may not be particularly interested in the details of the investigations that have been made, but these have established beyond the shadow of a doubt that hay fever is the result of a definite sensitivity of the person to the protein portions of the pollens of various flowers and grasses.

The disease is not contagious, but a history of the disease in the ancestry is found in from 58 to 61 persons affected. This may indicate a possible hereditary relationship.

Personal Responsibility

Quincy Herald-Whig

The question which every citizen, who really seeks to help in the solution of society's present problems, must ask himself is, "What am I personally doing to meet my full responsibilities as an American citizen?"

In other words, the biggest thing that an American citizen must learn is his personal responsibility for his own thoughts, his own conduct, his own relations to his fellowmen.

"Do I obey the laws of the country? Do I drive my car so that I do not endanger the lives of others? Do I keep my property in such condition that it helps to make a better neighborhood in which to live? What is my own attitude toward civic projects? To what extent do I seek to shift the blame to others?"

When every citizen sees to it that he himself follows out in spirit and letter the laws of his country, he is doing his full duty. Until individual responsibility is restored, we may look in vain to the legislatures and the courts to bring order to a distraught world.

Shall lord it but a day;

Time will not tear it down.

That found the common daylight sweet,
And left to heaven the rest.

Quits Richardson

Newspaper defections from Governor Richardson's ranks are now a daily feature of the gubernatorial campaign. The latest and in many respects the most important of the entire campaign is that of the Stockton Daily Independent, which in its issue of August 14, made its editorial declaration for Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young.

The editor of the Independent is managing editor for many years of the Stockton Daily Independent, which in its issue of August 14, made its editorial declaration for Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young.

The Independent editorials defending the Richardson regime were reprinted widely and constantly by Richardson papers.

In announcing its support for Lieutenant Governor Young, the Independent states that at the outset of the campaign it favored the candidacy of Charles L. Neumiller as the standard bearer against the governor. Neumiller having declined to make the contest, and all the entries being in the logical man to defeat the governor, says the editorial, is C. C. Young.

The governor's "lack of vision" in vetoing the Stockton deep channel bills, "his deceit" of the people of the county in that matter are given as two major reasons why the Independent was forced to leave his cause, the editor declares.

Fitzgerald denies that this project was "local as Richardson declared it to be. It is a project of the state, and is generally recognized as of state-wide importance and if completed adding to the wealth and progress of the entire inland valley and the Mother Lode country.

"Because he lacked the vision offered by this great project to be of great service to the state and save the people millions of dollars of wealth, and secondly because he did not treat Stockton's representatives who called on him with frankness," the Independent declares it declines to support him further in his ambitions to remain governor of California.

Explaining Expenditures

In explaining state expenditures, the Richardson campaign committee has issued the following:

"That the present state administration has saved the taxpayers millions of dollars, that the 1923 budget instead of showing an increase showed a reduction of twelve million dollars in general operating expenses, that the 1925 budget took care of all the state needs generously and still showed no increase over the 1921 budget—is the remarkable result of the past three and one-half years, stating to a comparative budget statement prepared by Superintendent Schlei, state superintendent of accounts.

"The three last biennial budgets showed the following totals of general operating expense:

"1921 budget, Governor Stephens, $44,973,001.30.

"1923 budget, Governor Richardson, $32,153,603.18.

"1925 budget, Governor Richardson, $44,983,400.00.

"The 1923 budget is practically 12 million dollars less in general operating expenses than the 1921 budget and redeems the pre-election pledge made by Governor Richardson. Had the percentage of increase between 1919 and 1921 continued, the 1923 budget for general operating expenses would have been $70,000,000.00 instead of $32,000,000.00 as Governor Richardson pared it down and the 1925 budget for this purpose would have been $87,000,000.00 instead of $44,000,000.00.

"Superintendent Schlei punctures the false claim that the grand total has been increased by showing that the 1925 budget contained $31,000,000.00 for gas tax, while in 1921 there was no gas tax. This 1921 there was no gas tax.

"The increase of the 1925 budget are due to the big building program for the state, the correction of educational institutions; statutory provisions; heavy expenses of foot and mouth disease, and liberality toward educational needs—and, hence, cannot properly be added to the 1925 expenses."

Depending on His "Surplus"

"San Bernardino Sun—Only a casual glance at the California News, the weekly paper being issued in the interest of Governor Richardson's candidacy and nominally published by his 'newspapermen's committee,' is required to make it evident that if the hokum about the surplus in the state treasury does not furnish a safe harbor, and calm waters on primary election day.

Weeks ago The Sun made it clear that it was Senator Lyman M. King's tax bill that made a surplus possible, and not administration economy, but the champion of the governor continue to chant the mantra of that surplus, just as if they believed the governor did have something to do with creating it.

However, according to Assemblyman Percy G. West, of Sacramento, the boasted $10,000,000 surplus of the Richardson regime, which is put forward as the sole and only exhibit of supporting his economy pledge, turns out to be a $6,000,000 deficit. Mr. West has been delving into the records in the office of State Controller Riley, and proceeds to puncture Governor Richardson's statistical balloon.

West bluntly labelled Richardson's $10,000,000 surplus claim as a "political fable." There is, it is true, West declares, $10,000,000 of free money in the state treasury, but instead of being a surplus which the governor saved, it is an inheritance from the former Stephens regime, and a legacy produced by the King tax bill.

But for this inheritance, with the creation of which the present governor had nothing to do, there would today be a deficit on the books amounting to over $6,000,000, West points out. The assemblyman's statement says:

"Governor Richardson's effort in laying claim to the surplus built up by reason of the King tax bill, increasing the corporation tax rate, is hard to comprehend.

"He not only played no part in securing this legislation, but in his 1923 budget message, denounced the King bill and charged that it had increased the burden on the people. Now he claims credit for the benefits derived from it.

"The governor claims that there is now a surplus of $10,000,000 in the state treasury. Accepting his own statement of the state government's financial status, he would now face a deficit of $6,437,948.85 except for the funds 'inherited' by his administration from the administration of former Governor Stephens.

"The books of the state controller's office show that Governor Richardson started with $16,437,948.85 in funds piled up by the preceding administration, composed of the following items:

"Actual cash on hand July 1, 1923, when the first Richardson budget became effective, $ 30,371.89

"Money loaned to the State by the Governor, $ 1,000,000.00

"Appropriation by preceding administration for veterans' farm colony, unpaid, $ 950,000.00

"Funds in various accounts, 1917 appropriations unexpended, $ 47,602.85

"King tax bill revenues paid after long litigation, $11,219,370.97

"Funds reverting from unexpended 1919-1921 appropriations, $ 2,240,305.14

$16,437,948.85

Any voter studying these financial tabulations, which are backed up by official records, can reach but one conclusion—that Richardson's asserted $10,000,000 saving is merely another political fable designed to catch the votes of the uninformed.

The cartoons showing Governor Richardson watchfully protecting a $10,000,000 surplus in the treasury are therefore made possible only by the fact that in addition to the state's enormous revenues, he fell heir to over $10,000,000 from other sources, $10,000,000 coming so late that neither he nor the legislature had a chance to spend it. A surplus from necessity.

Out For Shortridge

Among the many thousands of prominent citizens calling to support Senator Samuel M. Shortridge in his campaign for re-election to the United States senate, is the Hon. George De Rue Melkielehn, assistant secretary of war under President William McKinley, 1897 to 1901, and former lieutenant governor of Nebraska.

As lieutenant governor of Nebraska, Mr. Melkielehn presided over the the famous joint convention to canvass for the election returns of 1891, in which the supreme court sustained him. He was a member of the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses from 1893 to 1897. He also bears the distinction of having been decorated a Knight of the Royal Order of the Sword by King Oscar of Sweden.
